SAME OLD BULL MARKET. James Speyer's statement, "Prosperity is our natural condition," seems to be true, with high blood pressure added.

A stock exchange seat sold for $525,000. The tired ticker fell more than an hour behind almost from the start, with more than 5,000,000 shares bought.

Where the top of this market is located nobody knows. But some are destined to find out where the bottom is some day, and hit it pretty hard.

Meanwhile, gentlemen on a margin are saying with Louis of France: "After us, the flood."

Those that don't gamble hear interesting stories about wonderful "winnings" of those that do gamble.

Gamblers that win tell you all about it. But they don't tell you the end of the story. Keep that in mind, if you imagine that you have missed an opportunity.

Governor Brewster, of Maine, tells a conference of governors at New Orleans about Herbert Hoover's plan for "preventing panics and lack of employment."

It is a big plan and includes holding in reserve three billion dollars worth of public works contracts for emergencies, "to take up slack in employment."

The knowledge that three billion dollars' worth of work on public and quasi-public contracts could be awarded at any time to meet an emergency would strengthen confidence and take care of the emergency if it came.

President Coolidge, in his last annual message to Congress, will recommend a plan for farm aid, including, it is said, "unified co-operative marketing" with Federal support. "Keep the Government out of business" is all right for a slogan, but some things the Government must do if they are to be done at all.

A Boston insurance company got $1,000,000 under the alien property bill and will distribute the money to stockholders in the form of a "stock dividend," paying no income tax. Not a bad idea.

The overworked doctor, lawyer, merchant, paying income tax on his personal earnings, not allowed any deduction for "depletion," although he is wearing out mind and body, would like to declare a stock dividend on himself. But he can't.

Noguchi, Japanese scientist, died of yellow fever, while seeking a remedy for that disease on the Gold Coast, representing the Rockefeller Foundation.

Professor Kuczynski, German scientist, also fighting yellow fever, contracted the disease. He put some of his blood into the veins of a Rhesus monkey, which also got yellow fever.

Let anti-vivisectionists groan, it was a good idea.

As a result, Prof. Kuczynski announces discovery of a remedy for the yellow fever, which he calls "bacillus hepatotrophicus."

Hitherto the only protection was in destroying mosquitoes that planted the germs in men's blood.

Before he started to the North Pole and his death, attempting to rescue the Italian fliers, Roald Amundsen said to a friend: "Make me a free man. See that my debts are paid."

The old explorer could not feel free if he died in debt.

All of his debts, amounting to less than $4000, are paid.

Friends paid 15,000 kroner for Amundsen's 51 medals, 33 of which were gold.

The biggest fortunes are not always left by the greatest men.

Schubert, greater than a million ordinary millionaires, left 10 dollars' worth of property. Many unpublished songs sold for $2.

Spinoza, great Jewish philosopher, who has taught millions how to think, left as the most valuable asset in his "estate" a pocket knife with a silver handle.

But he left a name worth more than the total capitalization of General Motors.

King Gustav of Sweden is 70, and his people, deciding to give him a present, have started a fund of $1,000,000 to fight cancer. A useful gift. Six grams of radium have been bought for $335,000.

That mysterious substance, bombarding space with its particles, will be fighting cancer, saving life, long years after King Gustav passes on to tell his ancestor, Bernadotte, the French lawyer, whose son was made king by Napoleon, how it feels to sit on a throne.

CHARGE STATE PRISON CONVICTS STOLE AUTO PLATES TO AID 'RING'

Convicts at State Prison, where all the number plates for automobiles are made, were found to be holding out plates and secreting them with the intention of smuggling them to a gang of car thieves "on the outside," it was disclosed today, in connection with the three-fold probe of conditions at the institution.

Prison officials revealed that a large batch of these plates, which had never been delivered to the registry, were found among blackjacks, ropes, saws and knives which were discovered in the prison chapel shortly before Charles Trippi made his dramatic attempt to escape, resulting in the slaying of Turnkey Fred Pfluger.

Listen, Good Fellows! Give Santa a Hand!

The Boston Evening American today makes its annual appeal to Mr. and Mrs. Goodfellow.

Not on behalf of itself but for the countless unfortunate families to whom, unless the Goodfellows come through as they have done before, Christmas will mean nothing but one more chill, dreary day marked Dec. 25 on the calendar.

Won't you be a Santa Claus?

Christmas is but one month and three days away. You, perhaps, are doing your Christmas shopping early.

For some, however — more than you realize—the early shopping slogan means nothing but sadness and wondering.

And for the youngsters?

Wan faces pressed against cold window panes, and eyes watching—watching for the Santa Claus who perhaps will never come, because he

Stocks Up in Strong Market

Stock trading continued in Wall street today with slight dimishing of volume, and the tone of the market in the afternoon was generally firm.

Radio soared $22 a share to a new top for the year. Wright Aero was up $24.87 a share, and was the spectacular feature of the scramble in the "Big Canyon" today.

Coppers were strong. Cerro de Pasco was up over $6 a share and Anaconda $4.50. Victor Talking gained $10.87.

The so-called "Hoover bull market," which began Election Day, has seen an average of 5,000,000 shares change hands daily.

Mohawk Carpet was up $3 to a 1928 high. Keith Albee $1.62 a share. Midland Steel Products preferred soared $22.

Pathe "A" gained 3⅛ and the common 2½.

Montgomery Ward skyrocketed $13 a share. Union Carbide rose 6⅝.

GIRLS HELP TO BATTLE FLAMES, SCORES FLEE FROM OFFICE BUILDING

Four persons were overcome by smoke, about 300 others, many of them women, were driven to the street when fire broke out at noon today on the ninth floor of the 11-story Oliver building at Milk and Oliver sts.

The victims included Louis Archer of Wollaston, who was taken to Haymarket Relief Hospital; Harry Maniff and G. B. Glendenning, sales manager for the New England Oil Co. Maniff was slightly burned as well as being overcome by smoke. A girl was partly overcome.

The blaze started in an enclosed fire escape from a short circuit on the wall, and the flames spread up through the 10th and 11th stories, filling them with smoke and sending employes of the many offices scurrying to safety.

To add to the excitement the flames burned out all the building circuits which were on the ninth floor, plunging the structure into darkness where natural light from the windows did not penetrate.

SCORES FLEE DOWN STAIRS

Elevator operators stuck to their posts, making many trisp to get the employes of the offices to the street, while scores of men and women raced down the stairs to safety.

Fortunately the flames were confined to the rear of the building, permitting those on the top floors a clear passage to escape.

The fire occurred at a time when the streets were choked with traffic, and when many of the girl clerks and stenographers of the building were bound for lunch. The discov-

SAYS NEGROES, CHAINED, TRIED TO SAVE VESTRIS

New York, Nov. 22—How the "Black Gang" of the ill-fated liner Vestris had to work chained to stanchions in the stokehold, with water sloshing about them, while they passed buckets of coal into the only boiler in operation, was described today by Joseph Boxill, negro fireman, testifying at the federal court investigation into the disaster before Commissioner Francis A. O'Neill.

"I became exhausted and sick—so sick that I had to go on deck and lie down," Boxill declared. "This was Monday morning, and we stokers hadn't had any food since 5 o'clock Saturday night.

"For hours we had been working like slaves. When the water was flooding the ship eight firemen and four coal passers were ordered to form a bucket brigade to help bail out the ship.

"We worked hard and long, but it didn't do any good. The water just kept coming in, getting worse all the time."

While he was lying sick on deck, Boxill testified, the first officer came along and shouted: "All firemen below!"

Other firemen had come up on the deck because of the water-logged conditions below and because they were exhausted.

BULGAR REVOLT CHIEF TO MARCH ON CAPITAL

Vienna, Nov. 22 (AP)—Advices from Sofia today said that Ivan Michailoff, Macedonian revolutionary leader was reported threatening to march upon the Bulgarian capital on short notice.

The population was said to be panic-stricken. Public buildings were occupied by troops, streets were deserted at 10 p. m. last night.

Along the approaches to Petrich, which is Michailoff's stronghold, bodies of his murdered opponents were said to be hanging from trees on both sides of the road. The initials of the Macedonian organization were branded on their chests.

The revolutionary leader's men were said to be requisitioning everything they wanted from the terror-stricken population, whose number was being decimated by the comitajis, or irregulars.

A meeting of the Bulgarian Cabinet was summoned for today. It was common knowledge, however, that a majority of the troops and officials were siding with Michailoff.

STATE IS DENIED CAR OWNERS' INJUNCTION

The Supreme Court was asked today to issue an injunction formally restraining the Car Owners' Mutual Insurance Company from doing business, on the ground that the company's agreement to suspend operations pending a court ruling on its solvency had been violated.

Justice Pierce denied Asst. Atty.-Gen. Roger Clapp's request for this injunction, but only upon receiving assurances from Gen. John H. Sherburne, counsel for the company, that immediate steps would be taken to correct an impression that it was engaging in business.

The request of the assistant attorney-general was made as a result of a circular letter sent out to the agency force of the Car Owners' company, which Insurance Commis-

"Sick as I was I had to go down again," said the witness.

The firemen toiled hard trying to keep up steam by passing coal into the remaining boiler—the others having gone out of commission—but finally gave it up as a hopeless task and they nearly all came up. This was shortly before the Vestris went down with a loss of 110 lives.

OBEYED TO LIMIT

Q.—(By U. S. Dist. Atty. Charles Tuttle—Did the stokers stay and obey orders as long as they could? A.—Yes, they did.

Boxill testified he had been a fireman for 19 years. When he started out on the fatal voyage he noticed when he went on duty at midnight that "a lot of water" was seeping into the ship and that it was listing.

Q.—Had you ever noticed a list on previous trips? A.—Yes.

When he resumed duty at noon, Sunday, the list was more pronounced, Boxill said, and considerably more water was rushing in through the ash hopper. Some of the crew "went to work on the leak." The storm was at its height. The aft stokehold was flooded and the firemen had to stand in water, which poured also from a half door above.

"Things were bad Sunday midnight," he testified. "The trimmers couldn't trim. We couldn't use wheelbarrows. We had to carry the coal in bags and buckets, the list was so heavy.

"At 4 Monday the steam was falling off. Later two boilers went out of commission. At 8:30 a. m. firemen in the stokehold were chained to stanchions so they could stand to fire the last boiler."

Boxill testified he went on deck about noon, when the situation was grave, and got in lifeboat No. 4, containing mostly women and children. It was lowered to about five feet from the water and stayed there for over half an hour. Then the Vestris lurched, went over on its starboard side and the lifeboat was hurled into the sea.

SAW MANY DEAD

Boxill said that after swimming about in the wreckage for a few minutes, he found a lifeboat that had tipped over. Its occupants were in the water, he said, and some of the men were trying to right it.

"I held on to the side," he said, "until I saw some dead children and women. That made me kind of dizzy. I took off most of my clothes so I could swim better, and swam away.

"Finally I saw one of the engineers' messmen on a large piece of wreckage—a piece about six feet square. I swam over and stayed with him until it was dark. There was another man on the piece of wreckage, too, a passenger.

"We saw a raft floating near, and I said to the engineers' messman, 'Slim, come on; let's go over there.'

Slim couldn't swim, so I went after the raft and towed it over and got him on it. The other man got on, too.

"Then Slim yelled that he'd got a cramp. He couldn't hold on any more, so he slipped off. I don't know if it was midnight then or not, but it was mighty dark. The other fellow said something in Spanish, and he slipped off, too.

"The raft had lost its ballast then, so it turned over, and I had to swim around until it turned back again. Then I saw a flare, a red flare, but it looked a million miles away. I went to sleep then and never knew anything more until I woke up on the battleship Wyoming Tuesday morning."

NO SAVING ORDER

Q.—(By Judge E. P. Jessup American nautical adviser at the hearing.)—Did any officer of the Vestris, after it was found that lifeboat No. 4 could not be lowered, order the passengers to return to the deck? A.—No. There was no order at all."

Dist.-Atty. Tuttle then praised the negro members of the crew for standing by the ship and the witness was excused.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Tilford were the next witnesses. Tilford said he went to the offices of Lamport & Holt, owners of the Vestris, on Monday night inquiring concerning the fate of a friend who was on board. He said he was told there was "no news," except that all on the Vestris were safe in lifeboats and that aquaplanes had been sent to the rescue. Mrs. Tilford gave similar testimony.

Charles Gery, an employe of Lamport & Holt, whom Tilford had identified as one of the men he had talked to, was called to the stand. He could not, however, recall any conversation with Tilford, although he vaguely recalled that the Tilfords had been there.

"I certainly know we said nothing about aquaplanes having been sent out," he declared.

Gery said that the first he had learned of the sinking of the Vestris was when he was telephoned by the press. He promised to bring to Tuttle tomorrow a complete list of saved and lost.

ery of smoke pouring from the rear of the building, followed by the clanger of arriving fire apparatus, created tremendous confusion.

FINDS MAN UNCONSCIOUS

In the meantime, employes had attempted to fight the flames with lines of hose, one of which burst and flooded the ninth floor.

Maniff was scorched while engaged in attempting to fight the fire pending arrival of firemen, but continued his efforts and later found Archer unconscious from smoke.

Miss Helen Cornell of Watertown, stenographer in the office of the National UUnUion Companies on the 10th floor, also was partly overcome by smoke and was assisted to safety by a fellow employe.

Telephones and elevator bells, as well as lights were put out of commission by the fire, and the entire building was flooded with water. As a result virtually all employes of 500 or more business concerns were given a half-holiday.

rushed for treatment for severe burns.

The Glen White, heavily loaded with 7500 tons of soft coal, grounded about seven miles off Nantucket. A radio call for assistance was sent out and the Coast Guard cutter Ossipee, which was doing duty near Pollock's Rip lightship, dragged the steamer into deep water.

The collier, which is owned by the Mystic Steamship Company and was en route to Everett from Norfolk, Va., was then towed to Boston, where repairs will be made.

Fifteen men were rescued from the two vessels that burned during the night. With Jacobson, the dying engineer, eight others were taken from the Ericson by the Coast Guard boats 151 and 2338, while six were saved by C. G. boat 282 from the two-masted schooner Mildred M. Foley, which flames devoured off Nantucket.

Among those saved from the Ericson were Burton C. Morton and Halter Keefe. They and their companions suffered minor burns.

Early today the Coast Guard boat 151, commanded by James B. Lehan, received a radio message that the beam trawler was aground off Bird Island flats. Proceeding to the spot, the boat found the trawler in flames.

A call was then sent out to the picket boat C. G. 2338, in command of Boatswain's mate Victor Harris. A call also was sent for the Boston fireboat Engine 44.

The C. G. 151 managed to get in under the fire while the burned second engineer was taken aboard. The 2338 then took off the remainder of the crew, including Capt. Ralph Lewis.

With the arrival of the fire boat, efforts were made to fight the flames. The fire, out of control, raced aft to where the supply of 2600 gallons of gasolene was stored.

Fearing an explosion as the flames reached this supply, the craft withdrew to a safe distance, giving up hope of saving the trawler.

The schooner Mildred M. Foley, valued at $20,000, was bound home to New Bedford from Georges Banks with 6000 pounds of fish when a defective dynamo ignited the crude oil tanks.

The men tried to extinguish the flames but were forced to take to the boats, and the CG 282 which was patroling nearby went to their rescue. A surfboat from Nantucket coast guard lookout station also put out.

Mayor Henry H. Parsons again seeks re-election and is opposed by Col. John E. Parker, who has opposed him in the last three elections. Dr. Scott W. Mooring, Weston U. Friend and Mrs. Alice M. Curtis, present school committeemen, are again candidates. Others after the places are Harold L. Armstrong, Dr. Reginald Courant and John H. Biggs.

GUGGENHEIM TO TAKE PERILS OUT OF AIR

In order to hasten development of the safe airplane to compare favorably with the motor car in safety and ease of operation, the Daniel Guggenheim Fund for the Promotion of Aeronautics has organized a Safe Aircraft Competition.

Announcement to this effect was made by Harry F. Guggenheim, president of the Fund, in an address today before the Boston Chamber of Commerce.

"Already there have been received 12 entries," he said, "including some of the most important manufacturers of airplanes in this country and abroad, which indicate that interesting results from the competition may be expected."

Referring to the Handley Page "slotted wing" recently perfected, which prevents the loss of control and eliminates possibility of an unintentional stall, he said: "In my opinion the development is of epoch-making importance to aviation."

Guggenheim said fog is one of the few hazards really feared by aviators, and that the Fund is devoting its energies and resources to fog as a major problem.

Widows of Vestris Victims Stranded In N. Y. Hotel

New York, Nov. 22 (INS)—Two "Vestris widows," it developed today, are almost without funds and troubled over their steadily increasing hotel bill. They are Mrs. Anne Devore, widow of Earl devore, Los Angeles racing driver who went down with the Vestris, and Mrs. Marion Batten, widow of Norman Batten, the driver, who met a similar fate.

"Norman had all our money $800 in cash—and it disappeared when he was swept out of my arms," said Mrs. Batten.

Mrs. Devore said her husband had all their money, too.

PRISONERS IN LEAGUE WITH AUTO THIEVES

Although those involved in this secretion of weapons and useful paraphernalia in an escape have never been identified, it is believed by prison heads that from 12 to 15 inmates were in the "racket."

Among the articles also found in the chapel, which were not mentioned in previous statements of prison officials about their discovery, were slips which are used when prisoners are given permission to go from the workshops to the rotunda to meet relatives.

By using these slips inmates could be absent from the shops for an hour or two without causing suspicion, giving them plenty of time to escape.

COOLIDGE MUM AS WIFE HUNTS HOUSE IN CAPITAL

FUTURE PLANS OF PRESIDENT STILL SECRET

By GEORGE E. DURNO,
International News Correspondent.

Washington, Nov. 22—Interest continues to grow apace in official Washington—to say nothing of the arena of high finance—over the personal plans of President Coolidge after March 4.

Into what line of activity the retiring chief executive will go has become an all-absorbing topic of conversation and speculation in the capital.

Today, just 13½ weeks from the finish tape of his official career, Mr. Coolidge was maintaining the same sphinx-like silence on this score with which he treated the politicians, and the nation in general, in connection with his "I do not choose to run" statement.

Current avenues of gossip are divergent, and quite widely so. For example:

HAS MANY OFFERS

Mrs. Coolidge went house-hunting the other day. She inspected, from top to bottom, a $48,000 sample residence in one of the smart new subdivisions of town, which included approximately $20,000 worth of display furniture. An indication the couple about to retire from the White House are planning to remain in Washington.

The President, in the course of the past fifteen months, has received a number of visits from the controlling heads of the United States Steel Corporation. J. Pierpont Morgan accepted the chairmanship of the board, it is said, only with the understanding that he was to remain in such a capacity until Mr. Coolidge signified definitely whether or not he would take the post upon his retirement.

The presidency of Amherst is an always-open job for the outgoing executive. Mr. Coolidge is the most distinguished alumnus of that college, and such a position would be the most dignified he could accept under the circumstances.

LIKES NORTHAMPTON.

Three great life insurance companies—the Prudential, the Metropolitan and the New York Life—are said to be angling for the President's favor as their future head.

As a lawyer, Mr. Coolidge will combine with Dwight M. Morrow, present ambassador to Mexico, into one of the outstanding legal firms of the country.

As a lawyer, Mr. Coolidge will open an office in Boston.

As a lawyer Mr. Coolidge will renew his practise of old in Northampton.

These are the rumors and such is the gossip. Barring an immediate trip to Europe or South America, it would seem from the outside that Northampton has the first call, in what capacity regardless.

$3,400,000 FOR FOREIGN MISSION

New York, Nov. 22 (AP)—The board of foreign missions of the Methodist Episcopal Church has voted approximately $3,400,000 for missionary work in foreign lands during the next year.

KITCHEN IT WAS, AND KITCHEN IT STAYS

"Kitchen."

What does it mean to you—work, drudgery, duty, happiness, or what?

All right. To Mildred MacEachren, 60, it has meant "me" for 40 years and she obtained permission from the Probate Court today to be legally known as "Kitchen" the rest of her days.

She told Judge Dolan that "Kitchen" had been her sole nickname since she came to this country from Prince Edward Island 40 years ago and started working in hotels, and she found it confusing to have to use the name MacEachren on occasion.

As there were no objectors, Judge Dolan consented. A novel feature was that the docket listing gave only the name Mildred and the court had to call out for "Mildred . . . Mildred Somebody," before the woman stepped forward.

BRIDEGROOM'S BROTHER SOON HER HUSBAND

Ware, Nov. 22—Just a month ago the sailor fiance of Miss Eva Boulanger, 20, of Ware, was killed in a motorcycle accident on what was to be their wedding day.

Today the girl is the bride of the dead fiance's brother, according to word received from Montrose, S. D., home of the brother.

Her husband is Frank Barto, who was to have been best man at the wedding scheduled for last month.

Ernest M. Barto, a sailor stationed at Newport, R. I., was hastening from Newport to Ware on his motorcycle for the ceremony when, at Monson, the machine crashed into a truck.

At the time of the crash, his bride-to-be, together with the guests from Springfield, Holyoke, Providence, Southbridge, Oxford and Webster were assembled in the Boulanger home.

The motorcycle rider died in Wing Memorial Hospital and the girl was grief-stricken.

Members of the Barto family present for the wedding that never occurred, invited her to their South Dakota home. There she fell in love with Frank Barto, and romance grew out of tragedy.

MILLIONS LOST TO BOYER 'HEIR'

Detroit, Nov. 22 (AP)—Five-year-old Dode Alfred Boyer today was legally disinherited from sharing in the benefits of a $3,500,000 trust fund created by Joseph A. Boyer, multi-millionaire adding machine manufacturer, for the child, in the belief that he was a grandson.

In a decision in suits to disinherit the child on the grounds that he had been falsely represented by Mrs. Laura M. Boyer, daughter-in-law of Joseph Boyer as her son, Circuit Judge Arthur Webster voided the child's birth certificate as Joseph A. Boyer, 3d, and held he was not legally entitled to the benefits of the trustee fund.

The decision, in effect, means the loss of millions to the child, now the adopted son of Laura M. Boyer.

KING ILL, QUEEN MARY SPEECH TO GO ON AIR

London, Nov. 22 (AP)—King George was confined to his bed today with a cold and a slight fever. An official at Buckingham Palace said, however, that the king's indisposition was in no way causing the slightest anxiety to the royal household.

"His majesty contracted a slight feverish cold," the official said, "just as any of his subjects is likely to do at this time of the year. Acting on the advice of his doctors, he has taken to his bed as a precaution until a slight feverishness has passed. I can assure you there is no need whatever for any anxiety as to the king's general health."

QUEEN AT CEREMONIES.

Owing to the absence of the Prince of Wales and the Duke of Gloucester on a shooting expedition in South Africa, many of King George's most important public engagements will devolve upon Queen Mary until he is able to be about again.

The Queen will attend two engagements today in place of the king. These are the opening of the new Spital Fields market and the reopening of the rebuilt "Old Hall" at Lincolns Inn, of which the king is senior bencher.

The queen next month will make a departure from her fixed rule of never allowing her voice to be broadcast.

AGREES TO BROADCAST.

She will unveil on December 12, a memorial at Tower Hill in the city to the officers and men of the merchant navy and fishing vessels who lost their lives in the World War.

Although the doctors issued no bulletin on the king's condition today, it was stated officially that he was making satisfactory progress.

This morning's customary ceremony of changing the guard in the forecourt of the palace took place as usual. The band of the Coldstream Guards played the usual bright selections during the ceremony.

HUNT GANG HEAD IN ROTHSTEIN DEATH CASE

New York, Nov. 22 (AP)—The police announced today they were searching for Jack "Legs" Diamond for questioning in connection with the death of Arnold Rothstein, the gambler. He was once a bodyguard of Rothstein.

No charge has been lodged against Diamond. The police said Mrs. Ruth Keyes of Chicago identified Diamond's picture in the rogue's gallery yesterday as a man she had seen in the Park Central Hotel shortly before the gambler was shot.

Diamond was once the leader of a West Side gang. In 1926 he and three others were arrested during a war between rival gangs, during which Albert Levy was shot.

Diamond was with a notorious gangster, Jack Orgen ("Little Augie") when the latter was killed in 1927. Diamond himself was wounded in the gun battle. He was arrested, but released because of lack of evidence.

He was arrested last February in connection with the fatal shooting of a watchman in Brooklyn during an attempted fur robbery, but was again released.

STUDENT KILLS RIVAL IN GRID HAZING

Birmingham, Ala., Nov. 22 (AP)—Another name has been added to the roll of football victims, but this time, Montress Freeman, a student at Birmingham-Southern College, died from a pistol wound inflicted by O. H. Westbrook, student of Howard College, a rival institution.

The shooting came as a climax to intense rivalry between the two student bodies over the annual game scheduled for Saturday.

Westbrook, heart-broken, was in custody of police today, while college heads and city officials debated the advisability of cancelling the game, which has been an annual feature of the football season here for many years.

Westbrook, who surrendered to police soon after the shooting, declared he fired when Freeman, accompanied by other fellow students, came last night to a suburban drug store where Westbrook worked and attempted to force him outside to be hazed.

Westbrook said he did not take the pistol from the drawer until Freeman approached him aggressively.

Mussolini Runs Afoul of One of His Own Rules

Milan, Nov. 22 (AP)—Premier Mussolini's own newspaper, Popolo D'Italia, has fallen afoul of censorship.

The paper's late city edition was sequestrated by the prefect of Milan because it contained a crime story a little too dark in character and therefore contrary to directions that the Premier had given the Fascist press.

Arnaldo Mussolini, brother of the Premier and editor of Popolo D'Italia, published an account of the seizure of the edition saying that it had occurred because a reporter was over zealous.

"We are justly sequestrated," Arnoldo Mussolini wrote, "And we are the first to admit it."

POISON WOMAN, HELD IN DEATH OF 18, INSANE

Union, Mo., Nov. 22 (AP)—The "good Samaritan," Mrs. Bertha Gifford, who always was ready to "sit up" with the sick and who watched 18 persons die writhing in pain caused, the state believes, by poison she administered, must spend the rest of her life in an insane asylum.

A jury found the "poison woman" not guilty of the murder of Ed Brinley "on the sole ground that she was insane." The verdict was reached after deliberation over the testimony that showed she had calmly poisoned one man and two small children.

Testimony of expert phychiatrists was to the effect that she was suffering from paranoia.

Mrs. Gifford, who is 53 years old, was ushered into the court room by Gene Gifford, her farmer husband, to hear the jury's verdict. Without a word she took her seat and, as the judge read the verdict sat, as she had during the trial, with her hand supporting her face. No change of expression was noticed as she listened to the brief reading by the judge.

Gene Gifford then took her arm and whispered a few words of encouragement in her ear as he led her from the room.

The testimony during the trial revealed her desire for morbid entertainment, her passion for attending sick beds, for partaking in arrangements for funerals, for being so often in the midst of tragedy.

Over it all hung her admission of three murders and 15 other cases for which she has been questioned—instances where death occurred under mysterious circumstances while she had acted as a volunteer nurse.

'FINE, DADDY!' WIFE CRIES AT HOOVER'S FISH

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Aboard U. S. S. Maryland (via Arlington, Va., Radio Station), Nov 22—While the Maryland plowed southward today at 17 knots an hour, 150 miles off the Mexican coast, President-elect Herbert Hoover, wearing a yeoman's cap, pushed far back on his head, spent some time at his desk weaving the genial mood of a successful fisherman into the first speech of his good-will tour at Amalpa, Honduras, Sunday.

The President-elect had full cause to feel happy over his fishing exploits yesterday.

Even before the launch bearing the party returned to the Maryland, Mrs. Hoover, who had been watching through glasses at the rail of the warship, noted with jubilation that the expedition was a success. The launch was two miles away, but clouds of flying spray could be seen where a fighting dolphin was churning up the water.

"They have caught something that is beating up a tremendous fuss," remarked Mrs. Hoover.

IN 500 FATHOMS.

The fishing was done in 500 fathoms (3000) feet of water and it was twilight before the party returned. A searchlight played on the starboard gangway while the President-elect and his fellow anglers boarded the ship, their catch being carried in canvas bags.

A canvas sheet was spread upon the quarterdeck as the finny victims of the anglers' skill were spread out to view.

Mrs. Hoover was enthusiastic as the big fellows were tumbled upon the canvas and even some of the ship's officers said they had never seen finer fish.

"Fine, daddy," exclaimed Mrs. Hoover.

The President-elect beamed, but whispered softly aside: "It took me 15 minutes to land that big fellow."

George Akerson, secretary to Mr. Hoover, hooked 20 pounds of bonitas and three newspaper correspondents added 60 additional pounds to the fine frying pan goods.

FOR BREAKFAST.

Some of the fish were not yet dead and they flipped upon the canvas as though they found it no honor to be hooked even by a presidential party.

"We will all have a fine breakfast," remarked Mrs. Hoover.

The Maryland has passed the line of Mexico and Guadalajara and should reach the northern line of Guatemala Friday evening, the fifth day out from San Pedro.

Mr. Hoover was much interested in the ship's newspaper, "The Evening Hurricane," which printed a radio dispatch from New Orleans saying that Governor Brewster of Maine had presented to the Governors' conference a program for $3,000,000,000 in public works construction to give employment in dull times. Mr. Hoover sponsors this project which has already been approved by engineering societies.

The weather was again warm and bright today and the top deck of the warship took on the appearance of an ocean liner with deck golf, quoits, shuffleboard, tennis, medicine ball and even baseball. There is plenty of opportunity for the members of the Hoover party and the ship's officers to get outdoor exercise.

GOLF ON DECK

There are only two deck chairs on the man-of-war. The President-elect occupied one for some time and Mrs. Hoover the other.

They sat in the warm sun and the balmy breeze, amused at the antics of the deck golfers who were compelled to take from five to ten strokes to "hole," as the motion of the ship sent the ball from its course.

H. P. Fletcher, American ambassador to Italy and an authority on Latin America, who is accompanying the President-elect, has fully recovered from his slight eye trouble which developed before he left San Pedro. He has been under care of Dr. Becare, the ship's surgeon, but has not been confined to his quarters.

There has not been a single case of sea sickness so far.

The forecast: Friday fair, with moderate southwest winds changing to northwest. Slightly colder.

COME ON ALL YOU GOOD FELLOWS! GIVE SANTA CLAUS A HAND!

BRING JOY TO NEEDY HOMES

failed to appear last year.

A bleak, bare Christmas is sad enough for adults, but for the kids it is tragedy.

Come On, Big Hearts!

If every individual with means could step into the shoes of a reporter making his rounds of mercy, with cheering baskets, through the city's myriad "poverty rows" there would be no need for apptal each year to the big hearts of those who are willing, but not cognizant.

You will never know the real spirit of Christmas until you have been thanked, silently, by the misty eyes of a work-worn mother or by the fervent handclasp of a discouraged, unfortunate father, to whom their children looked confidently—never knowing.

Never, until you have reached out, with a gesture of real whole-heartedness, a hand of comfort to some hlepless one with no claim upon you, will you experience real exhilaration.

Help Spread Cheer!

It doesn't take much to be a good fellow. It takes merely, for instance, that bill you might otherwise have used for a box of cigars, for two or three more boxes of candy to be presented to someone with more candy than she can use.

It may take a little of your time, but after you have given of that time and have seen the smiles of relief and happiness spread over worried faces, you will wonder why you yourself had never thought before to lend the helping hand.

The Goodfellow plan of the Boston Evening American is plain and simple.

Letters of appeal come each year to this newspaper, asking for aid. The adults think not of themselves; they want happiness only for their children. The children, of course, with the sublime faith of children, ask that Santa Claus be reminded this year of the address he forgot last season.

Your aid can be given by writing to the Goodfellow Editor and telling him you would like to provide for a family on Christmas.

You may, if you wish, indicate the section of the city or the neighborhood where you would like to make your offering.

Out of many appealing letters received, one will be selected which you can follow up. Previously, the case will have been investigated.

There will be no intermediary between you and the family you wish to help. This newspaper is making of itself merely a clearing house of Goodfellowship.

Don't Wait; Act Now!

If you do not wish to make the direct delivery of your bounty, the members of the Boston Evening American staff will be glad to act for you, following your instructions to the letter.

Write today to the Godfellow Editor, Boston Evening American, 5 Winthrop sq., Boston.

Do not wait until tomorrow, for then you may be too busy.

Be a Goodfellow this year—and you will never let another year pass by without repeating.

WOULD MAKE TAXIS INSURE PASSENGERS

Augusta, Me., Nov. 22 (AP)—Wilbur D. Spencer, State insurance commissioner, today said taxicab drivers should be compelled to carry insurance or some kind of indemnity for the protection of the passengers, as do operators of buses. "I do not believe in the idea of compulsory automobile insurance as in Massachusetts, because it imposes a heavy burden on the people to pay premiums and does not prevent accidents," he said. "The tendency is rather the reverse, because when an irresponsible person obtains insurance, he knows someone else will pay the damages."

RELIEF FROM HABIT-FORMING LAXATIVES

Sufferers from constipation will welcome a remedy that is made to do more than just relieve immediate symptoms! Thalax—it is called.

Thalax tends to do away with medicine taking! For besides bringing prompt relief, it so strengthens and tones the bowels themselves, that their natural action is gradually restored, and after a reasonable time no more medicine should be necessary, except possibly at rare intervals. Thalax puts life into bowel muscles that have been relaxed or weakened by too much drugging.

Take one or two Thalax tablets tonight at bedtime. In the morning you will experience a natural movement, without griping or distress. Use Thalax at intervals until your bowel movements become normal and natural again, then stop using it. The natural bowel action will continue. No habit will be formed. You will experience no harmful after-effects whatsoever. Instead, the relief will be very noticeable and welcome.

Leading druggists everywhere sell Thalax, 35c per bottle of 30 tablets. If your druggist hasn't it, send direct to the makers, K. A. Hughes Company, Boston, Mass.

STATE LOSES ON CAR OWNERS' INJUNCTION

sioner Arthur E. Linnell called to the attorney-general's attention.

It is understood that Judge Pierce was given assurance also that this letter would be withdrawn.

It read, in part, according to officials:

"Do not let the scattering business being placed this month worry you.

"Use the regulation blanks which can be secured from your district manager. Get them signed and fill them out, all but certification, and hold them with the promise to your asured that you will take care of him, delivering his plates to him in ample time for use, in the meantime awaiting further instructions from the Underwriters' Agency."

The company had promised the Supreme Court to do no business except to collect unpaid premiums and investigate claims, and to make no disbursements except to claim examiners.

Gen. Sherburne told Judge Pierce today that he had not known of the letter which, he said, was dispatched by the Underwriters' Agency, and he assured the court that there was no attempt to do business, but he promised that the contrary impression would be corrected.

An early report is expected from the master appointed to hear the state's evidence that the company is insolvent and the company's defense, and the Supreme Court's decision as to whether the company can continue in business without a receiver will then be due.

The Underwriters' Agency, it was revealed today by officials, is a holding company for the Car Owners' Mutual, having the same officers and empowered to receive a substantial part of the earnings of that company.

One of the most serious aspects of the tangled situation is shown by insurance department records, where approximately 1400 claims on accidents against the Car Owners' company were recorded in the six weeks from September 1 to October 15.

These cannot be paid at present. Acting Commissioner Linnell was forced to deny a request that payment of some claims be permitted.

The letter which went out to the agency force disclosed that the Car Owners' had abandoned a plan to effect consolidation with another company and intended to fight to the last ditch to prove itself solvent.

THINK SUSPECT IS SLAYER

Gonsha. He was taken into custody after he had robbed the home of Alfred Samuelson, a Chicago fire man

Samuelson chased the suspect and felled him with the blow of an ax snatched from Gonsha's belt.

Questioned by police the prisoner admitted he had been in Omaha, but did not now "just when." The "hatchet slayer's" toll here includes three dead and five injured.

The description of the Chicago suspect tallies closely with that of the actual slayer. Even the clothing worn by the suspect is said to fit that of the Omaha killer.

Gonsha told police he got the axe found on him next door to the Samuelson home. The much-wanted "hatchet man" has made it a practice to steal an axe near the home of his intended victims during his fiendish operations in this city.

The telegram received here read:

"Believe axe man is under arrest here. He is negro, 5 feet 7 inches tall, weighs about 140 pounds and wore gray cap but no overcoat. Forward me full description and fingerprints."

OFFER 3 PLANS TO SPEED HUB TRANSIT

Three major improvements for the speeding up of transit facilities in Boston were suggested today to the special recess commission on rapid transit, created by the Legislature, at a public hearing at the State House, by Horace Guild, secretary of the Boylston Street Association.

They were:

Construction of a tunnel along Huntington ave. connecting with existing tunnels.

Approval of the latest plan, at a cost of $2,600,000, for a subway station at Governor sq., with the depression of the Commonwealth ave. car line.

Electrification of the so-called Highland circuit of the Boston & Albany railway, probably as far as Newton, and its use by the Boston "L" in much the same manner as the Shawmut branch of the New Haven road was developed.

Guild declared the Huntington ave. tunnel would mean the discontinuance of surface cars on that crowded thoroughfare and the substitution of busses. One of the immediate results, he said, would be the relief of congestion at intersecting streets.

It would permit the elimination of the ramp at the outlet of the subway at the Public Garden, too, he added.

The electrification of the Highland Circuit, he said, would be the first step in the complete electrification of all the railroads entering Boston, which eventually must come, he declared.

Replying to a question from Henry I. Harriman, chairman of the Metropolitan Planning Board, regarding the financing of the improvements suggested, former City Councillor Guild said he personally believed the costs should be assessed as in street widenings. He thought it wholly unfair to assess the entire cost on the car-riders.

Mayor Edward H. Larkin of Medford urged the electrification of the Medford branch line of the Boston & Maine Railroad. His city, he said, is the fastest-growing community to the north of Boston.

If the electrification took place, he added, a terminal could be built in Medford sq. for busses radiating to Winchester, Stoneham and Arlington.

The suggestions of Mayor Larkin have the approval of the Medford Chamber of Commerce, Archie A. Ashley, chairman of the transportation committee of that organization, said.

HOPE TO CLOSE UP HOSPITAL PROBE

The City Hospital trustees are scheduled to appear before the City Council investigation committee at City Hall this afternoon at 2 o'clock for the purpose of closing the probe of charges registered against the institution.

It is expected that the hospital officials will answer in detail the various complaints that have been made at the public hearings held during the past month and attended by representatives of the hospital.

TO DECIDE SOON ON BAKER

Washington, Nov. 22—Whether or not Postmaster Roland D. Baker will be continued in office for another term by President Coolidge, will likely be made known within a short time, according to announcement of a Bay State man who is close to the President.

As yet, however, Massachusetts political leaders have been unable to agree on Baker or any one of the other candidates for the place, and so far the President has been unwilling to make any appointment until such unanimous recommendation is reached.

Postmaster Baker's term of office expired last June. Immediately there was a warm fight on, a large group of the recognized leaders indicating that they preferred Baker retained in office for another term. But an equally strong delegation voiced objections to the appointment. President Coolidge took the position that he had no right to assume the role of an arbiter in a factional fight and refused to name any successor to Baker.

Now, however, there are indications that a decision has finally been reached at the White House, and an announcement of the appointment is expected any time.

NATIONWIDE DRIVE TO SUPPRESS DRUGS

HOBSON OPENS U. S. ANTI-NARCOTIC PARLEY

New York, Nov. 22 (Universal Service)—Concerted action on the part of Congress, the 48 states and the larger cities of the United States in smashing the narcotic traffic is expected to result from efforts of the World Conference on Narcotic Education and the International Narcotic Education Association.

Delegates are assembled for the second annual conference at the Waldorf-Astoria.

More than 150 delegates from all parts of the world were present when the initial session was opened by Captain Richmond P. Hobson, Spanish War hero. The primary object of the two organizations, Captain Hobson explained, is the standardization and codification of Federal, State and municipal laws governing narcotic transportation and the treatment of addicts. The sessions will continue until Saturday.

DRIVE PLANNED

A determined drive will be undertaken, it was announced, to stiffen the State and municipal statutes regulating the traffic with the purpose of throwing on the various states much of the burden of curbing the illicit traffic which is now shouldered by the federal government.

A new model anti-narcotic measure, patterned somewhat after the New York State law, will be introduced in each state legislature which meets during the present winter. Capt. Hobson said:

"The measure makes the trafficking in narcotics a felony instead of merely a misdemeanor. Another provision of the law would penalize with life imprisonment any drug pedlar who induces a minor to become an addict.

TRAINING CHILDREN

"In addition to fortifying and unifying the anti-narcotic statutes, we want to remodel the federal law so that every alien convicted of drug selling can be automatically deported at the completion of his prison term.

"There is also much to be done in the way of bringing about a revision of school text books on the subject of narcotics. We think an educational campaign will be one of the most effective weapons, and we want to begin educating children on the evils of drugs as soon as they can read.

"Some of the matter now in the school books is positively laughable, and in few cases do the books stress the terible evils. Such an educational campaign must of necessity be a long-drawn-out affair.

"After some pioneering work has been accomplished in America, it is our intention to arouse the world powers to the seriousness. There are in existence several treaties which specifically limit the amount of narcotics which may be manufactured, but little or no attention is being paid to them. The world is being flooded with as much as 50 times the amount of narcotics which should legitimately be produced."

The new measure will embody some of the good features of the laws now in existence in New York and California. The hospitalization features have been taken from the California statute.

SALLIES TO STAGE INTENSIVE DRIVE

An intensive drive is to be conducted the next few days to complete the Salvation Army maintenance fund appeal. Cash actually received is reported at $115,297.56, which with cash anticipated by the end of the week will increase this total to more than $120,000. The sum of $135,950 is needed for operation of the 24 institutions with which the Army renders its service to the sick and unfortunate.

Berlin, Nov. 22 (AP)—The German Foreign Office let it be known today negotiations for a reparations conference with the Allies had not progressed beyond the stage of diplomatic conversations and informal memorandums.

It was stated England and France had asked certain special questions concerning powers of the experts.

RAID HOME TO ARREST MAYOR

Jersey City, Nov. 22 (INS)—Following an attempt made to arrest him in a raid on his home here early today, Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City announced today that he would accept service of a warrant for his arrest on a charge of contempt.

The warrant charges he had refused to accept a subpoena to appear before the Case legislative investigating committee next Monday.

Frank Garrison, sergeant-at-arms of the New Jersey Senate, and two companions who invaded Mayor Hague's home to arrest him were arrested themselves on complaint of Mrs. Hague. She said that, despite her protests that the Mayor was not at home, they ransacked the house, causing her aged mother to faint.

Mayor Hague, returning from New York, characterized the raid as an outrage. He directed that Garrison and his companions be released, however.

Action was instituted against Mayor Hague when he failed to appear before the Case committee which is investigating alleged irregularities in the mayor's home county, Hudson.

HOOVER SURPLUS PLAN FOR JOBLESS IS BACKED BY GOVERNORS

INFORMAL APPROVAL BY A.F.L.

New Orleans, Nov. 22 (AP)—Governors ended their annual conference here a day ahead of schedule time to lend their moral support in the roles of private citizens to Herbert Hoover's proposed $3,000,000,000 surplus to remedy slack times unemployment, up for final consideration by the American Federation of Labor today.

The governors adhered to precedent by declining to adopt resolutions indorsing the President-elect's plan for stabilizing industry of the nation, but Governor Ralph O. Brewster of Maine, who outlined the proposal, stated that seven of the chief executives favored the movement and said they would put it into practice. The plan received enthusiastic consideration in an executive session of the governors.

ACCEPTED BY LABOR

After gubernatorial response to the Hoover construction plan, it was accorded informal acceptance in the labor convention when the address of Governor Brewster was read before the labor men by John P. Fry, secretary of the metal trades department of the Federation of Labor.

The Hoover industrial program was described generally by William Green, president of the Federation of Labor, as a full and complete indorsement of the wage policy of the Federation.

POLICIES INDORSED

Mr. Fry also unqualifiedly stated that:

"Governor Brewster's address before the governors' conference was not only a complete indorsement of our basis for wages, but in addition was an indorsement of one of the policies of this Federation for the purpose of relieving unemployment through the utilization of a reserve accumulated in times of plenty."

Such tremendous interest was displayed in the surplus proposal that the governors terminated their round table discussion abruptly to sit with the labor delegates during their discussions on formal consideration of the plan today.

New Englanders Back Hoover Prosperity Plan

Joined with pride in the fact that the Hoover plan to stabilize prosperity is partly of New England origin, was the enthusiastic comment throughout this section of the country today following announcement of the President-elect's proposal.

New England comment seemed to be heartily in support of the establishment of such a fund, the aims of which were outlined by Governor Brewster of Maine, on behalf of Hoover.

It was revealed in Boston that the idea is based on a plan put forth by William T. Foster of Newton, head of the Pollak Foundation for Economic Research, and Waddill Catchings, New York banker, in their book: "The Road to Plenty."

The Foster-Catchings system, expressing the relation of the construction industry to sustained prosperity, created much doubt among certain conservative economists, when it was first announced, and it is only recently that it began to find converts throughout the country.

IDEAS EXPLAINED

The ideas concerning the construction reserve were explained by Foster to an informal gathering of New England business leaders before the publication of "The Road to Plenty," and were given also at a meeting last year of the Boston Building Congress. The former group mailed copies of the address to business heads throughout the country and received a response showing a great deal of interest. The New England council also distributed the address as a means of stimulating New England industry.

A. Lincoln Filene, speaking at the building congress meeting in place of Foster, expressed the opinion that it will not take many years for the Foster building reserve to be actually applied. The country had awakened to a national consciousness, he said, which is exemplified in the present conference of governors, where the prosperity ideas of "The Road to Plenty" are backed by Mr. Hoover and will go to Congress soon.

As an example of the present building system, Mr. Filene pointed out that the new Boston postoffice was being constructed in a prosperous time, with the stock market continually rising, instead of in a dull period. He advocated an annual budget among the New England building trades to boom business and provide for the interchange of ideas.

William T. Foster is a native of Boston, having been born here in 1879, the son of William Henry Foster and Sarah Jennie Foster. At the age of 13, he was earning his own living, and looking forward to obtaining an education. At the age of 15, he worked in the carpet house of the John H. Pray Company, earning $3 a week. At 17, he was running a school paper in Roxbury, earning enough money to get a college education.

ENTERED HARVARD

He entered Harvard College in 1897, and worked at many occupations to earn his way. He read gas meters, shingled barns, tutored, worked as a gardner, and edited a weekly paper. He was graduated in 1901, near the head of a class of 600, and three years later received an A. M. degree. He was elected an instructor at Bates College and later at Bowdoin. In 1910, he accepted the presidency of Reed College, Portland, Ore., and remained at that post for 10 years.

He took up the work of the Pollak Foundation in 1920. He has lectured extensively at colleges and before education societies and business groups, and previous to the publication of "The Road to Plenty," wrote several other books dealing with economic subjects.

Brazil Extends Warm Welcome to Hoover

Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, Nov. 22 (INS)—Brazilian newspapers today extended advance cordial greetings and a warm welcome to President-elect Herbert Hoover.

The Correiomanha pointed out that "Brazil and the United States are both "economic powers" and need each other's supplies and raw materials." It added that Mr. Hoover will see Brazil's problems at first hand, which will make it easier in the future to deal with commercial problems.

COOLIDGE BARS SHOALS DAM

Washington, Nov. 22 (INS)—President Coolidge will agree to the leasing of Muscle Shoals (Ala.) power and nitrate project to the American Cyanamid Company, as provided in the Madden bill, if that provision is eliminated which would require the Government to build a $30,000,000 dam on Cove creek, he told a congressional delegation, largely from Alabama, which called on him today.

Any proposal involving government ownership would again meet with his veto, he warned the congressmen.

2 FAMILIES DRIVEN OUT IN PITTSFIELD BLAZE

Pittsfield, Nov. 22 (AP)—Two families were driven from their homes today by a fire which started in a barn and spread to the house before the occupants were aware of the blaze. The fire was on the farm of Milton Bayette.

He and his wife made their way to safety after arousing the family of Joseph Campbell which shared the house. The barn was destroyed and the house greatly damaged.

HOUSE IS FACING REAPPORTION FILIBUSTER

By WILLIAM S. NEAL,
International News Correspondent.

Washington, Nov. 22 (INS)—Extraordinary demand among returning congressmen for reapportionment of the House membership as provided by the Constitution today presaged a bitter struggle immeditely after Congress convenes.

So insistent is the pressure from States now denied their full representation in Congress that a powerful bloc is threatening to inaugurate a filibuster until the reapportionment question is settled.

Tentative plans of the bloc call for introduction of a resolution in the House on the opening day of the session declaring reapportionment shall remain the unfinished business until a bill is enacted.

This in itself would start a floor battle which might upset all plans of House leaders to rush the consideration of appropriation bills. Members of the bloc, it is understood, also are considering a proposal to filibuster all legislation until their bill is acted upon, on the ground that the House as now constituted is an illegal body.

PLEDGES OF SUPPORT.

Several months of activity has resulted in the exaction of sufficient pledges to pass a bill introduced last session by Rep. Fenn (R) of Connecticut. Rep. McLeod (R) of Michigan, a state which probably would gain four House members in a reapportionment, led a mail campaign designed to secure the backing necessary to overcome stiff opposition to the Fenn bill.

Rep. Rankin (D) of Mississippi who led the fight last year which resulted in the Fenn bill being recommitted to committee, is also engaged in a campaign to halt renewal of the battle.

Since electoral votes for President are based upon membership in Congress, some Democrats see in the Fenn bill a blow at their future prospects. Reapportionment, it is estimated, would likely add three to six electoral votes to normal Republican strength.

TEN STATES LINED UP.

Representatives of California, Connecticut, Florida, Michigan, New Jersey, North Carolina, Ohio, Oklahoma, Texas and Washington are expected to line up solidly in the "reapportionment bloc." All of these states would gain members in Congress at the expense of agricultural mid-west and southern states.

Failure of Congress to reapportion the House since 1911 despite the constitutional provision for a new division after every ten-year census is the weapon with which backers of the Fenn bill hope to win. At present, they claim, Congress stands out as the most flagrant violator of the Constitution in the nation.

Against this claim is not only the natural desire of many members to retain their seats, but fear that a new membership would result in an increase in the influence of city population upon legislation at the expense of the agricultural states.

Five new members were elected to the board of directors to serve until October 31, 1931: A. Norman Needy, E. E. Hickey, Robert C. Finlay, Miss Ethel McCarthy and Fred Daniels.

BEWARE THE COUGH FROM COLDS THAT HANG ON

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Keeps Boy From School; Is Jailed as "Martyr"

Nashua, N. H., Nov. 22—"I'm a conscitntious objected. I am a conscientious objector to vaccination. I will go to jail rather than pay the fine and costs in this case."

"These were the words spoken in Superior Court today by Albert W. Peacock of Milford, when sentenced to pay a fine of $10 and costs of $108 for failing to send his son, Roy, to school.

Peacock, who has been fighting the Milford authorities for two years in their attempt to have his son vaccinated, acted as his own counsel. On his statement to the court that he refused to pay he was taken at once to the jail at Manchester, where he will work out the fine and costs at 50 cents a day—218 days.

Peacock told the judy he was being persecuted because he did not believe in vaccination. He charged there were 78 children going to Milford schools who had not been vaccinated, and that he was being singled out because he had opening voiced his objection.

SPECIAL TARIFF SESSION SEEN BY TILSON

Washington, Nov. 22 (AP)—Rep. Tilson of Connecticut, Republican leader in the House, today predicted a special session of Congress to deal with tariff revision. He said he believed farm relief could be disposed of at the short session.

Tilson made his prediction after he had discussed the general legislative situation with President Coolidge.

In addition to the army appropriation bill before Congress during the short session, several military legislative measures will be urged by Secretary of War Davis.

Briefly the legislation includes:

Authorization of appropriations for construction at military posts, for which the House has passed a bill involving $15,066,260 for improvements at many air fields and posts, both overseas and continental.

WEST POINT BUILDING

Remedial action on the promotion situation for which several bills are pending.

Provision of the rank of major-general for future chiefs of the bureau of insular affairs, from which post Maj.-Gen. Frank McIntyre retires Jan. 5.

Appropriations for construction at the military academy, for which a bill authorizing $609,000 has been passed by the House.

Installation of a radio and communication center at Bolling Field, for all air corps and signal corps transmitters in the District of Columbia.

Retirement of enlisted men of the Philippine scouts after 30 years' service.

Provision that the Secretary of War secure motor transportation best suited to the service.

HONOR FOR WAR GENERALS

Equalization of the rank of the chief of staff of the army with that of the chief of naval operations.

Construction of an army medical center in the District of Columbia.

Advancement on the retired list of Maj.-Gens. Hunter Liggett and Robert L. Bullard to lieutenant-general, the rank they held as commanders of armies in the World War.

Authorization for sale of unserviceabel ammunition and purchase of new with the proceeds.

Approval of action of the War Department in the relief of Mississippi river flood sufferers.

Provision for an international aircraft procurement board.

OIL LAMP BURNS HOME; SINGES CHILDREN'S HAIR

Salem, Nov. 22—An overturned oil lamp that started a fire in the home of Wilfred Fournier in Forest st., Middleton, early today, drove Fournier, his wife and eight children to the street in their night clothing. The hair of the two oldest children was singed by the flames. The house, a two-story cottage, was almost destroyed.

Bit of Ozone Protects Earth From Death Rays

Washington, Nov. 22 (INS)—Life's fascinating insecurity and its absolute dependence on a gas in the upper air that would make a layer only cardboard in thickness if brought to earth, masking the earth from death rays of the sun, were described today by C. G. Abbot, of Smithsonian Institution, internationally-known astronomer.

After contemplating the possibilities of life out in the limitless swarms of suns and worlds and the endless march "of the celestial hosts through the trillions of years that matter has existed, Abbot concluded conceivably there is life in some form on Venus and Mars. But he added:

"The earth still remains the only abode of life and her life depends absolutely on the sun's radiation.

"The upper atmosphere," he said, "contains so minute a quantity of ozone as would make, if brought to the earth, a gaseous layer only as thick as a cardboard.

"Yet this minute and almost fortuitious atmospheric constituent cuts off entirely the spectrum of the sun and stars beyond the wave length 2900 angstroms. The solar rays thus cut off, if they reached the earth, would destroy human sight and tissues by their powerful chemical activity."

Planetary temperatures about as high as the earth's appear to be requisite to the higher forms of life. Referring to the springlike day and frigid night temperatures of Mars, Abbot said:

"Martian life, if it exists, must be adapted to atmospheric composition approximating that high above the summit of Mt. Everest."

Frigid temperature, he explained, "would seem to exclude from Mars the higher types of life, such as we know, but might permit certain Arctic types to exist."

On Venus, on the other hand, tropical temperatures exist with solar radiation somewhat more intense than reaches the earth.

"We may conclude," Abbot said, "that Venue is probably appropriately provided with temperature, humidity and atmospheric conditions, and is in a state suited for luxurious life. Being wholly cloudy, however, it is doubtful if we can ever demonstrate it."

JAIL FATHER OF 3 LITTLE GIRLS

Nashua, N. H., Nov. 22—Edward H. Vacon of this city, sought through four states since last July, was arraigned here today for desertion o fhis three little daughters. The girls, Constance, 8; Evelyn, 4, and Alice, 2, have been placed in an orphanage by county officials.

Vacon and his wife on July 17 left the children in care of the 11-year-old daughter of a neighbor. "We will be back in an hour or two," he told the girl.

Yesterday, the police caught up with Vacon after following him to Vermont, New York, Michigan and back. His wife was with him, but had a job, and was not arrested.

He was held in jail in default of $300 bail.

SHOT TO DEATH IN FEUD OF 25 YEARS' STANDING

Ukiah, Cal., Nov. 22 (INS)—A feud of 25 years standing between the Tracy and Paddon families was at an end today. At its conclusion Ed Tracy, 73, is dead and Dan Paddon, 70, is in jail. The feud began 25 years ago when Clarence, young son of Tracy, was killed by Dan Paddon's daughter.

The feud blazed anew yesterday. Padon, armed with a rifle, said he "wanted to talk business" with Tracy. "He wouldn't even speak to me," said old Dan, "and I shot him."

BOMB TWO PLACES THAT DON'T BUY "RIGHT BEER"

Chicago, Nov. 22 (INS)—Two "soft drink" parlors were bombed today within five minutes of each other. Damege in each case was estimated at $1000.

The second floor of the first building bombed is occupied by Hughie "Sharkey" Curran, son of the late Tom Curan, prominent politician. The second blast wrecked the entrance of the "soft drink" parlor of Edward F. Frank. Police believe the "soft drink" parlors hadn't been buying beer from the "right parties."

60,000 PLEDGE HYLAN SUPPORT FOR MAYOR

New York, Nov. 22 (INS)—IWth 60,000 signatures pledging support to John F. Hylan for mayor of New York, thec ampaign of Judge Hylan for re-election to office was reported well under way today.

Hylan will run on an independent ticket on a tentative platform calling for a five-cent transit fare and reduction of taxes and graft, James J. Morgan, chairman of the Better City Government League, declared.

FORD STRIKERS BACK IN SCHOOL

All but one of the five boys who went out on strike at Henry Ford's Wayside Inn Trade school, were back this morning, resigned to the fate of further association with the alleged school bully, Joe Zukatuinsky, 17, a State ward.

Joe has thrown things into more or less a tangled state of affairs out at the school, and as a result of Mr. Ford himself stepping in on the situation and discovering that Joe had several good qualifications, and should be kept at the school no matter who quit.

THE TRAGEDY OF MANY LIVES IS CONSTIPATION

Guard against it in time

This evil scourge ruins thousands of promising men and women. It saps vigor. It kills initiative. It wrecks health and happiness. Sleepless nights, dragging feet, headaches, pain-dulled eyes, follow in its wake. Frequently it leads to lasting and serious disease.

Yet there is safe, prompt relief. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to relieve constipation. To surely prevent it. ALL-BRAN is 100% bran—100% effective. Doctors recommend it. Two tablespoonfuls daily — chronic cases, with every meal.

Don't you agree it is better to cure constipation with this healthful cereal than to try dangerous pills and drugs? Or uncertain part-bran products? Delicious with milk or cream—fruits or honey added. Use it in cooking too. Sprinkle it into soups. Sold by all grocers. Served everywhere. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

SENATE FIGHTS COOLIDGE NAVY PLAN

Washington, Nov. 22 (INS)—The administration's "big Navy" bill, drafted to give the United States a navy "second to none in the world," faces hard sledding in the Sena.e despite the personal endorsement of President Coolidge.

The insurgent bloc and a militant group of Democrats plan an assault on the bill which may block its enactment at the short session of Congress. The bill also faces shipwreck in the legislative jam that marks every short session.

The measure would authorize the construction of 15 new fast cruisers and one airplane carrier. It carries a total authorization of $274,000,000, but the actual cost of the new warships may reach $400,000,000.

Senator William H. King of Utah announced today that he expected to oppose the new measure.

SAVES WOMAN FROM CHAIR

Atlanta, Nov. 22 (AP)—Fula Elrod Thompson was saved from the electric chair today when Governor L. G. Hardman commuted her death sentence for murder to life imprisonment.

The woman was sentenced to death from Murray county in 1927 with her husband, Clifford Thompson, and a negro servant, Jim Hugh Moss, for the murder of Coleman Osborne, a merchant living near Chattsworth.

Thompson and the negro were executed at the state prison at Milledgeville several months ago, each going to his death declaring he was innocent.

Osborne was slain in August, 1927, when he answered a call to his store to sell gasoline to a party of motorists. The state contended that Mrs. Thompson, her husband and the negro were the ones who called the merchant from his bedroom into the store and shot him.

Lieut. Mendez was trained in American flying schools and his plane was purchased for him by popular subscription in Colombia and is named the Ricaurte. It will be the first American built plane ever flown into the South American republic.

COUNSEL APPOINTED FOR CONVICT SLAYER

Atty. Michael H. Shanley has been appointed as counsel for Charles Trippi, Jr., by Judge Fosdick of the Suffolk Superior Court. Trippi will be placed on trial early in December for the murder of Frederick Pfluger, a turnkey at the State prison, whom he shot while trying to escape from the prison.

SINGLE PENSION RULING SOUGHT

Washington, Nov. 22—Government aid for the disabled veterans of all wars, regardless of whether or not such disability was brought about by government service, or in lieu of such compensation, a moderate monthly pension for all veterans has been urged on President Coolidge by Lieut. Eugene P. Carver of Boston, commander-in-chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Commander Carver urged the President to recommend to Congress further liberalization of the nation's treatment of its war veterans.

Disability compensation is now paid only to veterans who can show that their disability is of service origin. The Veterans of Foreign Wars advocate that everyone be brought under the provisions of the World War veterans' act with regard to service connection.

The pension system proposed would provide for the payment of from $20 to $50 per month to all veterans without regard to disability. Further veterans' preference under the civil service regulations will also be advocated.

BRITISH MOVE TO BAN DEATH PENALTY

London, Nov. 22—Capital punishment is again a live issue in England. The recent public agitation against the hanging of three Brighton murderers (who were reprieved) and the vindication of Oscar Slater this year greatly added to the number of people who demand a change in the law, and Lord Buckmaster and Sir Herbert Samuel have now brought the demand to the forefront.

The National Council for the abolition of the Death Penalty, of which Lord Buckmaster is chairman, has already begun propaganda for a national petition.

Roy Calvert, the secretary of the council, whose book "Capital Punishment in the Twentieth Century" has played a vital part in the movement, approves Sir Herbert Samuel's suggestion of a Select Committee on the question, and is certain that the council's public petition will give the necessary evidence to the House of Commons of the national demand of abolition.

Sir Herbert has also suggested that instead of, in the first instance, abolishing the death penalty by law the House might pass a resolution desiring the Home Secretary to reprieve in all cases of death sentence.

In Calvert's views there are seriouse objections to that course. He says:

"Criminologists agree that certainty of punishment is a great crime deterrent. Once it is established that the law is not what it seemed in this respect it would effect the mind of the possible criminal as to all legal punishment, the judge be asked to go through the terrible ceremony of death sentence when everyone knew that it would not be carried out? Only the legal abolition of capital punishment can meet the case with the proper finality and significance."

HORSE-LOVING SMART SET PLANNING SHOW AT BOSTON GARDEN, SAYS BETTY ALDEN

Sponsors Hope to Induce William H. Vanderbilt and Benjamin Cook to Exhibit Ribbon Winners.

STRONGLY ENTRENCHED IN THE AFFECTIONS OF the sports-loving, spectacle loving Bon Tons is Boston's newest and most enormous playground, the "Garden." They've crowded there, have the Bon Tons, close to the ringside, when smoke curled ceilingward; when pugilistic fortunes waxed and waned; when all the vast interior, tier on tier, was a dim expanse. And every thought and attention, every eye in the place focussed on the "squared circle," girdled in green and brilliantly lighted. And the Bon Tons have watched, breathless, a field of gleaming ice and swift skaters thereon; heard the thud of contact and the ring of steel on steel, as hockey star met hockey star.

NOW CERTAIN GENTLEMEN, KEEPING A FINGERTIP on the public pulse, dream dreams and see visions. They vision the Renaissance of the Horse for the Garden's immensity and commence to fashion the stuff dreams are made of to reality's pattern. They set agoing the ball that will roll up enormously. And hope and pray that sometime there'll be a Horse Show in the Garden that outrivals Madison Square's widely known affair. An enormous show, with blue ribbon entries, and famous nags, a coach parade and society all aglitter in its private boxes, bejeweled and tricked out as if for a Fete at Court.

THEY ARE VALIANT SOULS, THESE GENTLEMEN who would put Boston back on the Horse Show map. Horse lovers, all, to whom the tangy tanbark scent is more to be desired than Araby's most precious perfume. Who above all other interests give the fine high stepping horse, sleek and rolling-eyed, first place. They can be perfectly at home as judges. They are exhibitors. They both drive and ride. They thrill at the swank, and glory in the clank of a coach parade, so stirring and dashing, with its prancing fours and high and shining contraptions and general air of multi-millionairishness. And believe Boston should have its own Horse Show, and with amazing energy and resourcefulness set about getting one.

THE LITTLE BIRD WHO SITS ON HIS BOUGH AND TWITTERS of this and that tells of plans already in the making. Of ribbon-winning horses there's a plenty inside and outside New England to make a show the quintessence of quality. And of coaches there are a few. William Vanderbilt might bring the famous "Venture" up from Newport, to sit on its box and tool his handsome grays, or Benjamin Cook, M. F. H. for the Jacob's Hill set, catch the enthusiasm and enter the coach that now and then he tools along Providence's more quiet thoroughfares from the Hope Club to the Hunt Club.

SAMUEL SHAW MIGHT BE PERSUADED TO BRING OUT THAT priceless piece of coachwork he owns. With a spanking team and his pretty nieces on its top this handsome example of an almost lost art would grace any Horse Show. It would help give Boston's promised affair much of the Metropolitan glitter, as when, at the recent show, a dozen coaches were wheeled into the ring and put through their evolutions perfectly.

THEN THERE'S THE COACH, ONE OF THE ANDERSON COLLECTION, that sits so sedately in the Anderson coach house, part of the exhibit along with sleighs and phaetons, "rickshaws" and traps. And no doubt other coaches lie quiescent in almost forgotten seclusion, crowded out of the present-day picture by swift motors. It's high time they were furbished up and made to bring back for present generation entertainment some of the swank and glory of a past decade.

IF THE COPLEY SOCIETY WERE TO HAVE CANDLES ON ITS next birthday cake, there would be a half hundred flickering points of light to mark its half century of existence. But this fine and cultured company proposes to do its anniversary differently. An enormous Mardi Gras Ball is their method of celebration, dancers in motley and all the pageantry that beautifully-staged costume numbers lend to such an occasion. It's a marvelous history the Society has, commencing back in the days before it was the Copley Society at all, when a dozen or two art students from the Museum formed an Art Students' Association with Miss Tinkham as its guiding spirit.

Miss Sallie Sprague, who attends all debutantes parties and anticipates her own, which will be a large ball at the Hotel Somerset. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Phineas Sprague.

THEY HAD THEIR COSTUME BALLS, EVEN THEN, WHEN their numbers were but a half hundred, even as their birthday candles are today. And when the association merged into the Copley Society and many artists and literati impressed on the social order their cultured ways there still were dances, parties that had an Arabian Nights color and magnificence and that marked milestones along the Society's path. And, of course, there were exhibitions, in Copley Hall, when splendid collections were hung and the Society really functioned as an organization of art and culture.

BUT THE VERY PEAK OF beauty and elaborateness was reached two or three years ago when the Fine Arts Ball was given in Horticultural Hall. Holker Abbott, in his velvet robes of office, with mace and headdress, presided over the most brilliant assemblage of costumes Boston ever saw. And all Society was wearing them. The Hunts Clubs, smart organizations with an eye for color, came in groups and wore full dress hunts costumes. Elizabethan ladies with ruffs and trailing velvets were there. Uncle Sam and Miss Columbia; lovely Venetian ladies and stately Doges, Hamlets and clowns, fairies, monks, courtiers and jesters mingled in the dance. It was a brilliant scene.

NOW HOLKER ABBOTT AND his Copley Society cohorts propose to stage another brilliant ball. They move from Horticultural's vaulted grayness to the Statler Ballroom's imperial blue and gilt and call their birthday anniversary a Mardi Gras Fine Arts Costume Ball, a title so imposing it should waken all the costume ingenuity this Society is noted for and bring upon the gleaming floor priceless examples of every period. Forehanded, certainly, are the Copleyites in charge—for they dip into the New Year for their date and have the ball on February 12, the evening before Ash Wednesday, and so flaunt some color against the penitential season's neutral-tinted sackcloth.

POPE JOINS IN TRIBUTE PAID BENEDICT XV

Rome, Nov. 22 (AP)—Pope Pius XI made one of his rare appearances in the Basilica of St. Peter's today attending the solemn consecration of the monument of his predecessor, the late Pope Benedict XV.

The ceremony was attended by all the Cardinals resident in or visiting Rome, the corps of diplomats accredited to the Holy See, the Pontiff's own court, and the members of the Roman aristocracy. The dedication speech was delivered by Cardinal Mistrangelo, archbishop of Florence, chairman of the committee of Cardinals that undertook the erection of the monument.

The Pontiff extolled his predecessor as a Pope of prayer. He recalled how Benedict XV, after the refusal of the belligerents in the World War to accept his peace overture, said that it was the more necessary to pray more fervently and continuously and even after the armistice continue to beseech the Almighty that wartime passions might speedily be healed.

The monument, said the Pontiff, stands as an admonition to all that prayer, or union with God, is the basis of the whole Christian life.

Today's ceremony was attended by the late Pope's sister, Countess Persico; his nephew, the Marquis Giuseppe Della Chiesa; the present Pope's niece and her husband and 30 Cardinals.

The bride was unattended, but Henry Russell, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

BACK TO NATURE MAN HERMIT AT DARTMOUTH

Hanover, N. H., Nov. 22—Curtis B. Glover, of Melrose Highlands, Mass., who has forsaken college life at Dartmouth for a "back to nature venture" in the wilds, lived more or less of a hermit's life at the institution here, it was revealed today.

Students who professed no great surprise at his denunciation of college [illegible] had [illegible] life [illegible] as [illegible] end of his rope.

Close friends of the young man [illegible] interest [illegible] merrymaking of the dormitories and preferred to be alone or with a single companion rather than with the groups around the "dorm."

It had been a favorite habit of his to plod up into the hills by himself and then wander alone [illegible] nature and the [illegible] out of doors which so appealed to him. He claimed that companionship would have broken the [illegible] that nature held for him during these solitary [illegible].

As [illegible] Glover had often expressed his [illegible] dislike for the system of marking and of examinations at the college, but expressed [illegible] that when he departed from civilized life to that of the more primitive he must leave the library behind.

Last summer at the close of college he left with one companion to take a three weeks' trip up through the mountains. Nevertheless he was an excellent scholar, his record at high school and his two years here at Dartmouth being exceptionally good.

His letter printed in the Daily Dartmouth states: "I intend to prepare myself for a bigger life than college leads to [illegible] described by Thoreau in 'Walden.'"

TRYING TO TAKE CLINKERS OUT OF COAL

Pittsburgh, Nov. 22 (AP)—Taking the clinkers out of the American family ash bin and finding substitutes for water for [illegible] steam were among the subjects presented today [illegible] conference on bituminous coal at the Carnegie Institute of Technology.

W. D. Lantry and J. F. Kohout, of the Commercial Testing and Engineering Company of Chicago, reported in a joint paper that complaints about clinkers in family and apartment ashes had led to investigations that would ultimately include various mixtures of coals. Their first finding was that the American habit of tossing into the furnace scraps from the dining table, broken glass and bits of metal, [illegible] extra clinker.

Substitutes for [illegible] producing steam [illegible] by [illegible] Engineering. Three such substances were [illegible]. One was mercury, already in limited use, but having too inadequate a source of supply to replace water. Two others were chemicals, diphenyl and diphenyl oxide respectively. Both have been under experiment, but Mr. [illegible] said the results are not yet convincing.

Forecast of a tremendous [illegible] power [illegible] coal-made steam will hold its own [illegible] by A. E. Smith of [illegible] Schenectady. He said [illegible] power [illegible] the United States [illegible] 100 billion kilowatt hours [illegible] and it may reach 200 billion early in the 40's." Of this coal supplies two thirds, and water power one third and Mr. Smith predicted that this ratio would hold.

A Substitute for Dieting

PARTICULAR people do frown on those who "pick and choose" at the table. A "diet" is often embarrassing and always a hardship. And nine times out of ten it is unnecessary:

Try this simple experiment; see if that "indigestion" doesn't disappear from the very hour you first take Pape's Diapepsin. To restore good digestion just eliminate excess acid. A tablet of "Pape's Diapepsin" after eating or when pain is felt will instantly neutralize the acidity and banish all digestive trouble and pain.

So, do buy a 60-cent package of "Pape's Diapepsin" today. This not only means instant relief, but by soothing, healing and strengthening your weak and disordered stomach a little "Pape's Diapepsin" keeps your digestive system healthy and helps to prevent various disorders. You may have decided that nothing could give you a "strong" stomach; just make the diapepsin test!

Girl's First Kiss Not for "Mail Order Fiance"

London, Nov. 22—(INS)—The first kiss of Miss Mercedes Gleitze, English swimmer and conqueror of the English Channel, who is living up to a girlhood vow to allow no man to kiss her until he is her husband, is not for Private William Farrance, her "mail order fiance." The postal courtship and betrothal of Miss Gleitze, formerly a London typist, and Private Farrance of His Majesty's forces in India, whom she had never seen, appears to have broken up on the shoals of disenchantment, according to their friends.

This long-distance romance began after Miss Gleitze swam the channel and Private Farrance, then attached to the East Lancashire regiment at Quetta, India, wrote her a letter. He had been attracted by her picture in a newspaper. Farrance proposed by letter and was accepted. The marriage was to have taken place in England this month.

Now Private Farrance has arrived in London to carry out his part of the romance, but Miss Gleitze has evidently exercised the strictly feminine prerogative of changing her mind. In short, Private Farrance has been unable to find her and there is only silence where he had hoped for marriage bells.

Miss Gleitze did not want to talk about her romance. But she did say in a general way:

"As a matter of fact, I do not want to settle down to married life just yet. I think I should do a little more swimming first. It is my present ambition to swim Cook Straits in New Zealand."

THANKSGIVING CALL ISSUED

The traditional Thanksgiving Day proclamation, setting aside Thursday as a day of "praise and thanksgiving" today issued by Governor Fuller, depicts Massachusetts as "wealthy, strong and prosperous."

"To those of our industries which have been passing through a period of change and depression a brighter day, we trust, is coming," the document reads in part.

Inspector Harry A. Swartz of the police department is willing to be one of the donors. Head Coach E. Marion Roberts of the Brockton high football team and Charles H. Holden, former Brown center and now B. H. S. freshman coach, are the others.

The boy was still in a serious condition, although some improvement was shown in his condition.

Sage Tea Dandy to Darken Hair

By DOROTHY LANG

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost over night if you'll get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store. It costs only 75 cents. Millions of bottles of this old famous Sage Tea Recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, are sold annually, says a well-known druggist, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray or becoming faded have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful.

This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound tonight and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.

Story of a "Good Gunman" and His Battles

CHAPTER 22

AS Freeman rushed forward to renew his attack, Eddie tried to step inside a swinging blow. Freeman's fist struck heavily, but with glancing force above the ear and there was a reverberating shock inside his head. If he was to maintain himself, Eddie realized, he couldn't [illegible] such bludgeoning wallops. Freeman had too much weight, too much strength, for a straight-out slugging match. With the shortest possible delay, Eddie knew he would have to get in a hay maker—a smashing knock down blow on the chin—on the button.

"Just a moment please!"

A voice came to them clear, swift, [illegible]. Miriam Thorndike had appeared suddenly on the veranda. Her very presence was a prohibition against the mad, primitive business of battling with the intent fury of Stone Age warriors. Each man, suddenly, dropped his hands. Their warring, hammering strife was a man's business—they had no mental preparations to deal with the restraining influence of a woman projected suddenly onto their battleground. Miriam, [illegible] and startled, stepped between them. Eddie fell back a step or two and Tom Freeman wiped his face with a handkerchief. It had ended as suddenly as it had started.

"You get yourself the hell out o' here," Freeman [illegible] from his [illegible] to Eddie.

"Not on your invitation," Eddie [illegible] back.

The girl looked at them both [illegible]. "I don't know what the trouble is," she said quietly, "but I'm not at all [illegible]. I'm disgusted with both of you."

Eddie felt a flush of humiliation but he was not able, immediately, to [illegible] his senses. In the few seconds of savage combat he had reached a level of vigor that was wholly [illegible] primitive. Surface civilization had dropped away from him and he had waged with an ancient [illegible] to destroy a rival. His breath [illegible] heavy, while his head was [illegible] from the heavy blows he had withstood.

"If you'll leave us alone, Miriam, I['ll] [illegible]," Tom Freeman told her. "Your father doesn't want [illegible] man around. It's an insult for a [illegible] to hang around you." Level eyed she repelled his anger.

"I'm capable of deciding all that," she said.

The flush on Tom Freeman's face deepened. Here in the face of a stranger [illegible] and abominated [illegible] apparently, was taking sides against him. A vein in his neck swelled. "If your father was here—" he stopped, inarticulate.

"I'm quite capable of deciding who my own guests shall be," she told him steadily.

BAUMES FIGHTS RESENTENCING COURT IDEA

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 22 (INS)—The State Crime Commission announced today it is considering a proposal for a resentencing court which would be a substitute for Governor Smith's plan for a sentencing board to decide on the degree of punishment of all persons convicted of felonies. However, Senator Caleb H. Baumes, chairman of the commission, and his associates have indicated that a resentencing court might be in the nature of a [illegible] of the Baumes sentence laws, a move which they would not favor.

A resentencing court would in effect [illegible]. It is indicated by the commissioners that this is entirely foreign to any move they would be inclined to approve. The idea of the resentencing court, it is explained, would be to make final determination of the terms of imprisonment of convicted persons.

Another suggestion has been made to the commission, it is reported, to the effect that there be created an advisory board to pass on sentences, to be composed of judges, psychiatrists or criminologists and [illegible] experts.

DOUBT ABOUT COLUMBUS' NATIONALITY UNSOLVED

Madrid, Nov. 22 (INS)—The nationality of Christopher Columbus is still unsolved today despite a prize of [illegible] pesetas offered by a newspaper to prove him a Spaniard. The editors announced that no prize could be awarded as none of the essays proved Columbus a Spaniard, though they revealed deep historical research.

IF "EAGLE" HASN'T PROPOSED, WHY? Miss Elizabeth Morrow, daughter of the American ambassador to Mexico, as she returned to New York from Europe on the Olympic. Her engagement to Col. Charles A. Yale Students Like Girls Better Than Words of Wisdom

New Haven, Ct., Nov. 22 (AP)—Yale students seem to be more desirous of looking for sweethearts and going to movies than they are of spending their free time in intellectual conversation, according to Prof. John Chester Adams, director of undergraduate literary activities, speaking at the annual initiation banquet of the Alpha Chi Rho Fraternity.

Prof. Adams declared a student of Oxford complained to him that he wished it were possible to have Yale students engage with him in intellectual conversation.

Too much time was devoted to trips to Vassar, Northampton and New York, the professor said.

DYNAMITE AND LION READY

DYNAMITE GUS SONNENBERG and Stanley Stasiak Lion of Poland, will clash in a finish mat battle, best two falls out of three, at the Boston Arena tonight, under the direction of Paul Bowser.

The Lion of Poland has been chewing raw meat at Jim Toland's Gym for three weeks. Boxing, wrestling and bicycle riding have been a part of his gym training, while in the mornings he has pounded the roads over in Cambridge.

Stasiak says he is in the best condition of his career. He believes that his tussle with Sonnenberg tonight presents him with the big opportunity of his colorful career and he intends to make the most of it.

SONNENBERG and Stasiak got tangled up at the recent testimonial to Mike Burke. Although Sonny was in the best of condition the Lion of Poland gave him a rather rough 15 minutes. Honors were even when the tussle came to an end.

GUS SONNENBERG
Dynamite Gus will try to tackle Stanley Stasiak at the Arena tonight. Ray Shanahan drew this picture of Gus starting one of his flying tackles. Gus has made wrestling a popular sport with his sensational flying tackles.

BIG CROWD WILL WATCH BIG GREEN-N. W. STRUGGLE

Chicago, Nov. 22—This football pastime here Saturday between the Green of Dartmouth and the Purple of Northwestern presents itself as quite a colorful affair, despite the fact that nothing but the championship of Evanston, Ill., or Hanover, N. H., will be involved.

As an indication it might be pointed out that some [illegible] folks will see the clash. It will be the first sellout that Northwestern has had this season.

Stribling Picked as Next Champ by Tex

New York, Nov. 22 (AP)—Seven of the wealthiest sportsmen in the United States, clad in immaculate evening dress, lolled behind clouds of rich tobacco smoke in the exceedingly massive and comfortable chairs in the private offices of Tex Rickard.

In through the closed doors filtered the sounds that rise from 20,000 howling fans immersed in the thrills two smashing hockey teams were producing on Rickard Pond in the heart of Madison Square Garden.

As directors of the Garden, they [illegible] New York Rangers [illegible]

Gloom Settles on Eli Campus With Big Game at Hand

YALE SQUAD WORKS ON PASSES

Bulldog Hopes to Flash Greatly Improved Aerial Game Against Harvard

New Haven, Nov. 22—Yale undergraduates tried to shake off their dread of the Harvard game Saturday. Gloom has been settling down on the campus ever since the long succession of injured players crippled the team in mid-season.

The mass meeting and rally at which only [illegible] students turned out caused Tad Jones, former head coach, to go to their rooms in an effort to get the students pepped up.

Yale [illegible] of the games [illegible] the next Saturday indicate that [illegible] and is a favorite. Confidence in Yale's ability to win is not apparent here.

Yale will present the same eleven which battled Princeton last Saturday, except that the veteran Johnnie Hoben is in at quarterback. Eli will use uninjured and fresh players, instead of injured stars.

Mal Stevens held a more [illegible] signal rehearsal and a forward passing drill which he still believes will produce results against the Crimson.

CHANGES HURT PASSING

[illegible] injuries which have compelled constant changing [illegible] Yale line-up [illegible] has been [illegible] successful [illegible] complete forward tosses. The present [illegible] however [illegible] improved the coherency of team [illegible] against Harvard Saturday will show a big improvement.

Until practice for the season closes tomorrow the forward tosses which Coach Pat Hanley, the former Army captain, has taught Yale elevens for [illegible] years will be drilled and hammered into the backs and ends.

Frequent shifts of players to meet situations as they arise on the gridiron after play begins, will take place.

It is likely that Frank Oldt, who would be a regular if he did not have a wrenched knee, will fill the [illegible] role [illegible] Kennard of Harvard, who stepped into the play at Yale two decades ago long enough to kick a field goal for the only score in the game, [illegible] without taking part in a single scrimmage.

OLDT CAN KICK

Oldt is Yale's best drop kicker, but Yale has failed to register a drop kick for the additional point following touchdown during the past four games. Oldt may break the unfortunate record by his toe specialty stuff [illegible].

MR. BOSTON

By Jack Conway

JOE CASHMAN, youthful sports writer who thinks and talks and only baseball when not orating on the power of Yale backfields since time immemorial, called Mr. Boston's attention to the sad fate of baseball managers in St. Louis.

[illegible] McKechnie [illegible] Rogers Hornsby won a National League pennant and a world's championship and was [illegible] Bob O'Farrell brought the Cardinals in second in 1928 and was relieved of his pilot's job. Last season Bill McKechnie won the pennant with the Cards and he has had his head removed. I ask what do [illegible] want in St. Louis?"

"Maybe beer and pretzels," said Mr. Boston laughingly.

"They have never taken them away, have they?" chirped Nick Flatley.

"The St. Louis situation is a rather novel one at that," declared Mr. Boston. "I wonder what Sam Breadon would do with his managers if he had a tail end club like the Braves or Red Sox. He would probably have his pilot shot at sunrise.

"Billy Southworth has been sentenced to lead the Cardinals. All that is expected of him is that he bring in a pennant winner and then capture the world series. If he does this, he may possibly be considered for the job for another year.

"I BELIEVE that either the Braves or Red Sox would pay a rather substantial bonus to a manager who could get one of the Boston clubs into the first division. Fourth place would be considered as within the money.

"The Braves and Sox have been down in the standing for so many years that any kind of a real improvement would be acceptable. The Cardinals will probably bump into the same situation in time. I hope the club owners will then remember the treatment they handed out to McKechnie, Hornsby and O'Farrell.

"CHARLEY ADAMS, owner of the Bruins, would probably like to save up some of the excess attendance at hockey games for some of the Braves' pastimes next year. Adams is entitled to the big profits that go with pro hockey today. He was the pioneer of the sport in Boston and lost heavily before putting the game over here."

MR. BOSTON let it be known that he will be down front when Gus Sonnenberg and Stanley Stasiak settle the question of supremacy on the mat tonight.

"This should be one of the banner matches of the season," said the veteran. "I understand that the rival grapplers are in the best of condition and prepared to set a dizzy [illegible].

"I met Stasiak at Len Toland's Gym the other day. The big fellow weighed 23[illegible] pounds and looked to be in the best of condition. The lion tipped me he scaled 265 pounds when he returned from a summer in Europe.

"'The beer was so good that I couldn't resist it,' said Stanley. 'It packed on weight and I was obliged to work harder than ever when I got back to this country.'

"I figure [illegible] Sonnenberg. He is a small fellow and only has one method of attack, the flying tackle. I got a good line on Sonny when we wrestled at the Mike Burke testimonial."

"I UNDERSTAND Paul Bowser is already making plans to stage another world's championship battle in Boston. The race for the shot at Strangler Lewis is between Stasiak, Sonnenberg and Malcewicz."

Mills Mills Well

Laconia, N. H., Nov. 22—Bob Mills, of Hill, N. H., heavyweight champion of this State, won the decision in the main bout of 10 rounds at the Carnival A. C. in Carnival Hall. The fight was fairly even until the ninth round, when Mills dropped Skinner for the count of four.

M. I. T. COURT SQUAD IN INITIAL HARD WORK

The Technology basketball squad scrimmaged for the first time. The veteran team, consisting of Capt. Brockelman, center, Allen and Lawson, forwards, McDonald and Motter, guards, played well.

Coach McCarthy is shifting his first team, and expects to equal the standard set during the last two years.

CON O'KELLEY SHOWS CLASS IN GYM

The [illegible] and cleverest heavyweight who has invaded this country since the time of George Carpentier went through his paces at Tehan's Gym [illegible] city crowd.

The [illegible] to battle Jack Gagnon [illegible] New Bedford, [illegible] Sharkey [illegible] Mechanics Building [illegible].

On his reputation O'Kelley has ruled a [illegible] favorite to [illegible] but following his sensational showing in the gymnasium the price [illegible] to 5 and it would be no surprise if the son of old Erin should rise a [illegible] favorite when he steps into the ring against the husky Gagnon tomorrow.

O'Kelley, with his giant of a father and Tom O'Rourke watching him carefully, worked two rounds with Benny Zabul, shadow boxed two rounds, skipped rope two minutes and hammered the light and heavy bags for four additional rounds.

HAS FINE PHYSIQUE

He is almost a carbon copy of [illegible] huge shoulders, and a fat [illegible] that denotes savage punching power. Has [illegible] feet [illegible] left hands and [illegible] to Zabul's [illegible] O'Kelley showed in his few minutes of boxing that he is a serious threat to the supremacy of our American heavyweights.

Jack Sharkey, who boxed with Gagnon in the final training session for the big Whaler, studied the Irishman's style very carefully, for if O'Kelley proves as great as the experts believe, it will not be long before O'Kelley and Sharkey will be glaring at each other from opposite corners.

Norton Wins

Jack Norton of Roxbury won the decision from William [illegible] Angelis, Boston, in three rounds in the 126-pound open class of the Chelsea A. A. held at Chelsea Theater. Both boys had won their trial bouts by knockouts and the battle between them in the final was a slugging match.

Genuine Imported Scotch Grain—100 proof

We bought forty pairs of the original Wing Tip English Brogue in the Regent Street store of Manfield & Sons, London.

Today the originals with the Regal Reproductions, are now on display in 76 Regal Stores in the U. S. A.

Manfield & Sons are the largest makers of high grade shoes in England, and this is what they told our representative in London:

"You may rightly regard this shoe as the finest specimen of Rugged College and Country shoe produced in England.

"We feel safe in saying that in the Country Houses and Shooting Boxes of over half the Nobility of England, this shoe may be found."

The upper leather in the original English shoe is Martin's of Glasgow, Scotch Grain, and as there is only one Genuine undiluted Scotch Grain, our men went to Glasgow to see Mr. Martin personally, and rush shipments to our factory of identically the same tannage that is in the English shoe.

Now in addition to this famous Wing Tip leather lined heavy sole Galosh Oxford, we have forty-one other styles of Genuine Scotch Grain, Heather Grain and Holland Grain. High shoes and Winter Oxfords, Plain and Fancy Patterns. Wing Tips, Ball Straps and Saddle Straps.

We believe this represents the most complete line of Genuine imported High-Grade leathers ever offered in America, and they are all One Price, $6.60.

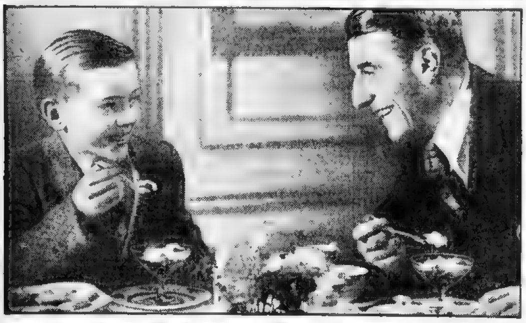
HERE'S GELATIN WITH A REAL FRUIT FLAVOR. YOU CAN CERTAINLY TASTE THE DIFFERENCE



Men Folks Know the Difference Instantly!

Here's gelatin that's simply delicious . . flavored with real fresh fruit

TODAY'S NEWS, Madam, is about a wonderful new gelatin that "men folks" think is delicious.

It's called Royal Fruit Flavored Gelatin . . . and it's entirely different from the ordinary gelatin you're now using.

Here's gelatin with body. With that real fruit aroma. Nothing flat or tasteless about it.

You can actually detect this flavor difference the minute you try Royal.

The piquant flavor of strawberry . . . the sharp tang of lemon . . . the succulent orange. There it is . . . fresh . . . sun-ripened . . . the real flavor of real fruit . . . to add zest and health to your meal.

Doctors recommend this gelatin because it's so rich in protein . . . the energy-giving, muscle-building nourishment needed in daily diet.

So we urge you to be generous with Royal. Serve it frequently . . . at least once a week.

Try it for dinner tonight. Ask your family to take a vote on flavor.

Note, too, its speed and ease of preparation.

Royal Gelatin, you know, is made by the same people who make Royal Baking Powder . . . a pure, wholesome cream of tartar product that's been on your pantry shelf for years.

Thus you can buy it with the utmost confidence. Your grocer now has it in stock . . . in five delicious fruit flavors.

The SECRET... of healthy children

. . . according to present-day dietitians

CHILDREN simply can't play too hard, mother. Not if you provide the proper food.

Just be sure you replenish all the energy they burn up. Then you'll have little cause for worry.

Provide White Rose Bread, for one thing. Often it is just the food that's needed. It is rich in calories. Packed with all the vital elements your growing children need.

It puts solid flesh on growing little bodies . . . hardens teeth . . . builds strong, sturdy bones and active minds.

White Rose Bread is splendid from the "housekeeping" point of view, too. It slices easily. Retains its freshness. Delights the most particular by its delicate, delicious flavor. Every loaf is made from carefully selected ingredients. Highest quality flour. Rich, wholesome milk. Pure cane sugar. That's why dietitians praise it so highly.

Now, Madam, a word of warning. At times you may be urged to accept some ordinary bread. Think, please, before you do.

Let your grocer distinctly understand that no bread but White Rose will satisfy. Do not trust your family's precious health to ordinary, untried brands.

It is at your grocer's, Madam, fresh twice daily. Continental Baking Company.

Martha Lee Tells of Gold Star Dishes

[illegible] Star [illegible] wearing a [illegible] them, but [illegible] designed.

I have told you often that every cake in the world is a variation of the only two [illegible] sponge [illegible] I am going to [illegible] butter cake, [illegible] and taken [illegible] and [illegible] the fundamentals [illegible].

[illegible] the mixing of butter cakes. Use [illegible] wood [illegible] The [illegible] mixing [illegible] The [illegible] creaming the bowl [illegible] with flour [illegible] the coat [illegible] the frosting. [illegible] the mix [illegible] and [illegible] your cake [illegible] the pan should be [illegible].

[illegible] cake [illegible] Divide the [illegible] quarters. During the first quarter the mixture should just begin to rise. In the second quarter it should be rising more and beginning [illegible] the third, continue to [illegible] and in the fourth quarter [illegible] browning and shrink [illegible].

[illegible] the cake pan until the [illegible] cake may [illegible] of your pan and [illegible] texture, and [illegible] the cake [illegible] it has suf [illegible] trying to rise [illegible] through the [illegible] answer to so many [illegible] cakes. The [illegible] also crack on top if there is too much flour.

Remove the cake from the pan [illegible] as soon as it comes from the [illegible] the pan upside down [illegible] A damp cloth [illegible] the top of the pan will help [illegible] the cake if it is inclined to stick.

Now for our Gold Star Cakes. Two of these have been contributed by club members. The first, a birthday cake.

Birthday Cake—One cup sugar, ¾ cup shortening, 1-3 cup black coffee, 1 pkg. dates cut in pieces, 1 tsp. cinnamon, 1 cup sour milk, 2 cups bread flour, ½ lb. chopped walnuts, 1 tsp. salt, 1 tsp. soda, 1 tsp. nutmeg, ½ tsp. cloves.

Mix as for butter cakes. Bake in moderate oven. Use White Mountain frosting.

A gold star should also be given to this [illegible] cake.

Molasses [illegible]—One cup molasses, [illegible] shortening, 2 beaten eggs, [illegible] 1 tsp. ginger, ½ [illegible] milk [illegible] 2 cups flour, ½ cup [illegible] flour, ½ tsp. allspice [illegible] orange.

Mix [illegible] shortening, molasses [illegible] milk and flour. Bake in flat pan in moderate oven sifted together with allspice and the ginger. Add the grated rind and strained juice of the orange. [illegible] for 25 minutes. When done, brush over with melted butter, sprinkle with sugar.

And I do claim a star for one of my own reliable and sure-thing [illegible] cakes, which is most inexpensive and at the same time is the [illegible] loaf cake that I know of. Best of all the longer you keep it the better it is.

Sure-Thing Chocolate Cake—One tbsp. butter, 1½ cup sugar, 1 cup sweet milk, 1 tsp. baking powder, yolk of 1 egg, ½ cup breakfast cocoa, 2 cups flour, 1 tsp. soda.

Work butter till creamy; add sugar gradually; then yolk of egg well beaten and cocoa. Mix and sift flour, baking powder and soda and add alternately with milk to first mixture. Beat thoroughly and add white of egg beaten till stiff, but not dry. Turn into buttered and floured pan and bake in moderate oven 45 minutes. Use pastry flour once sifted and measure soda and baking powder level.

In answer to many requests I am going to repeat the cheese cake which is "terribly" good. This is made in a pie dish and the lining is similar to cookie dough.

Cheese Cake Lining—2½ cups flour, 1 tsp. baking powder, ¼ cup sugar, 2 tbsp. butter, 1 egg, ½ cup milk. Mix the flour, baking powder and sugar, add the butter, egg and milk. Roll one-quarter of an inch thick and line the pie dish.

Filling—1 tbsp. cornstarch, 1 cup cream, yolks of 2 eggs, 1 lemon, 1 cup sugar, 2 cups cottage cheese, 2 tbsp. melted butter, whites of 3 eggs.

Dissolve 1 heaping tbsp. of cornstarch in the cream. Beat the yolks of eggs with the sugar and add the cream. Put cheese through a colander several times and add the butter and blend with the sugar, egg and cream mixture. Add the grated rind of lemon and the juice of half a lemon and the whites of eggs, beaten stiff. Pour into the crust, have the oven hot for 10 minutes and then moderate until custard is set. Faithfully yours,

MARTHA LEE.

Pumpkin Pie

Because Fall and Winter bring us pumpkin pies we can almost forgive them for their bluster and chill.

The flavor of pumpkin is so delicious that when made into a pie it fully deserves a tender, flaky crust which only a delicate shortening like Crisco can make.

Try the recipe below. See if you don't agree that it's the best ever.

Pastry

1½ cups pastry flour — ½ teaspoon salt
½ cup Crisco — Cold water

Filling

2 eggs beaten light — 1 cup sugar
1½ cups stewed pumpkin (not strained) — 1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon ginger
1½ cups milk — ½ teaspoon salt

Sift flour and salt. Cut Crisco in with two knives until the size of small peas. Add water (4 to 6 tablespoons) to make a paste which clears the bowl. Cover deep pie plate and pinch with fingers to make fancy edge.

Mix together sugar, spices and salt. Mix thoroughly with pumpkin. Add eggs, mix well. Last add milk.

Put in filling and bake in very hot oven (450° F.) until pie crust begins to brown, about 15 minutes. Reduce heat to moderate (350° F.) and bake until filling has set, about 30 minutes longer.

You taste your milk— You test your eggs— NOW— taste your shortening!

Crisco's sweet flavor will delight you!

TIGER LOVE by EUSTACE HALE BALL

Story of a Dancer of the Night and Her Love

CHAPTER 39

AT the very moment when Rosin was uttering supreme expression of the surrender of her soul to Dick Meredith both these young people were under discussion at the further end of the city.

"It is a very strange thing to me that your information about this Yankee bridge builder should be so meagre, my charming Baroness!" observed Captain Feodor Padovan, as he studied the white face of the demure Melville children's governess. "You have hitherto shown remarkable assistance to us in securing information from your British fool of an employer . . ."

Even the graceful curls of his cigarette smoke seemed to resemble a series of question marks in the air of the darkened room, as he shot a quizzical glance at the woman.

Baroness Olga Karatkin was not in the least disturbed by his manner. She helped herself to a Russian cigarette from the brass box on the table, [illegible] at the [illegible] tip of a tall wax candle and puffed almost insolently before replying.

"Like every man in the world who achieves success through the sacrifices of a woman I observe that you are ungrateful," and her voice was so delicately modulated that it seemed to cut with a razor edge. "Let a girl give once to a man, and he kisses her hand; twice and he kisses her lips; after that she is lucky if she escapes his kicks."

Feodor flushed and essayed a weak smile.

"At least, I have never used my boots," he answered.

"Not yet, but I presume you will do so as soon as you have drained me of all help that I may give. One need not expect continued gratitude in a love affair; in a military cause there should be at least understanding and courtesy. You did not even stand when I entered the room just now. . . . It is quite evident that it has been several years since you were an officer of the Czar."

The man flung his cigarette angrily to the floor and ground its smouldering end beneath his heel.

"That is the way you will use your boot on me some day, I have no doubt," and the Baroness smiled sweetly. "But my flame will not go out so harmlessly. Just remember that."

"Do not talk about the Czar. He is dead, and so are all the mummeries that went with his court. We are working for a different cause now—just the opposite, as you know. And in our new world that we have built on the ashes and bones of the old regime women are no better than men. It is share and share alike—in work, in reward in politeness."

The delicately lined eyebrows of the Baroness arched cynically.

"But not share and share alike in love, eh?" she asked.

"I am not talking love now!" snarled Capt. Feodor Padovan, rising to pace the floor of his little living room. He stared moodily into the darkness over the housetops of Abadipur to the moving specks of light along the surface of the river. He was in bad humor, and somehow the smooth control of the Baroness' voice irritated him far more than one of their usual quarrels would have done.

"You are surely not talking of love," she said archly. "Nor have you been thinking of love lately [illegible] you crooned of it most cleverly —otherwise I would certainly never have given you the last of my diamonds to sell in London; nor followed you to India, to act as a wretched governess in French and history for these stupid British children. History . . . I am seeing new history even tonight, along the same old lines that every woman has experienced. I shall give an original lecture on it tomorrow."

"What do you mean, Olga?"

"It's off with the old, and on with the new . . . as usual in these romances in which the money is paid and spent and the binding of the book grows worn," she arose, walked to a side table and poured herself a drink. "I must even be my own host, now. Since you came back fom the jungle—and I have seen you twice today—you have not even attempted to kiss my hand much less my lips. I suppose you, too, are mad about this dancing girl who set the American engineer completely off his course. Some dark skinned, voluptuous creature with coarse vulgarity, which set that Tartar blood of yours to burning."

She laughed bitterly.

"Your first words to me today when you told of her charms and ordered me to watch the Yankee every second—ordered, not requested, mind you!—convinced me that you, too, are captivated by this little beast of the street!"

Feodor Padovan spun about and glared at her.

"You are a fool, Olga! Jealous of every woman who is not crippled or blind in at least one eye! The girl is a beautiful instrument, far from being a beast and could teach a few lessons in grace and attractiveness to many a European woman I have known."

The baroness clutched her fingers together until the flesh became white, lifeless.

"I am not surprised that Meredith yielded to her charms," Feodor [illegible] cruelly. "He never yielded to yours, and yet your duty to our cause was to win him. You have admitted that he has never even remembered you after any meeting. Naturally not! After seeing this girl, I regard her as merely an instrument for our work and I have a higher game than the ruination of the American bridge work, with her as bait. Another man who ignored your charms, my dear baroness."

The slim, icy fingers of the Russian woman had closed quietly about a paper knife on the table. Her eyes were black, listerless, baleful as a poisoned pool of the jungle.

"The man I have in view is no less a personage than his highness the Rajah Kamkura-Din," boasted Feodor, turning his back to gaze at the distant river lights. "And she'll upset the whole principality before we are through with her. Which is exactly what I desire more than anything else in this world."

As the last syllable was leaving his lips there was a silken swish as the woman slipped across the floor. Came then a shrill scream as the Captain deftly caught the slender wrist, with a back hand twist of his own sinewy hand, and sent the paper knife clattering to the floor.

"Crude work, my charming Olga. That little trick was one of the things we always had to watch out for in the dear old days when [illegible] ists were not yet in power. Your claws are apt to be singed if they strike in the wrong direction. Perhaps you, too, have forgotten how to kiss, as we once did in the long ago."

He suddenly caught her in his arms.

Her clenched fist struck him full in the face; her long, sharp finger nails suddenly descended over his high cheek leaving five deep red lines there.

"If you must have jungle treatment I can give it," she said, as she clasped her throbbing wrist, and backed toward the doorway. "You and I have both forgotten how to kiss, Feodor. I have risked all to follow you, and you risk only your own selfish body for the possible chance to grasp an empire in your brutal hands."

Feodor's fists were clenched. All the brutality of the ancient days of Czarism boomed in his eyes as he menacingly followed her step by step.

"You say the Rajah and the American have no eyes for me!" cried the baroness. "We shall see about that! And for the fist you are raising—just remember that all I have to do to stop that fist forever is to scream a little louder. [illegible] British patrol is marching up and down the street, and they [illegible] be interested in knowing that you are . . ."

"Sssh!" Terror crossed the Russian's face. "If we must disagree let us do it quietly. And not with the knife!"

The baroness smiled. She had won her battle, and she knew it.

"Yes, I think hearts are much deadlier weapons. And it is high time that I tossed aside my demure [illegible] as a governess and let the [illegible] in Abadipur—at least—know whom I am."

Feodor Padovan's hands dropped to his side.

Mass. Mother Tells Story

Nature controls all the functions of our digestive organs except one. We have control over that, and it's the function that causes the most trouble.

See that your children form regular bowel habits, and at the first sign of bad breath, coated tongue, biliousness or constipation, give them a little California Fig Syrup. It regulates the bowels and stomach and gives these organs tone and strength so they continue to act as Nature intends them to. It helps build up and strengthen pale, listless, underweight children. Children love its rich, fruity taste and it's purely vegetable, so you can give it as often as your child's appetite lags or he seems feverish, cross or fretful.

Leading physicians have endorsed it for 50 years, and its overwhelming sales record of over four million bottles a year shows how mothers depend on it. A Massachusetts mother, Mrs. Richard Warren, 19 Whittier St., Boston, says: "Geoffrey was terribly pulled down by constipation. He got weak, fretful and cross, had no appetite or energy and food seemed to sour in his stomach. California Fig Syrup had him romping and playing again in just a few days, and soon he was back to normal, looking better than he had looked in months."

Protect your child from imitations of California Fig Syrup. The mark of the genuine is the word "California" on the carton.

The Principles of Over-Compensation

By Louise Bisch, M. D., Ph. D.
Famous Authority on Health and Psychology.

IT is a curious fact that the handicaps we realize are not the ones that are likely to retard our progress or interfere seriously with our happiness or success.

This is because in the first place we automatically try to [illegible] what [illegible] since the [illegible] body and mind is toward health [illegible] compensation.

If I am not mistaken, it was the eminent [illegible] who said [illegible] covered [illegible] some [illegible] ty was he [illegible] part of [illegible] different. He would know how to take care of himself [illegible] allow the [illegible] while, on the other [illegible] case of which he was unsuspecting and therefore careless about might suddenly overwhelm him.

Overcompensation means that you not only counteract the effects of a handicap or cure it, but you go a step further and become unusually proficient in the very thing you were first deficient in.

Prof. Serviss on Science

By GARRETT P. SERVISS

WHEN an invention bases itself upon great natural principles it becomes of philosophic interest. M. Knapen, a Belgian engineer, has just been attracting attention in Europe by his proposed "puits aerien" (aerian well, or air well), with which he believes that arid and semi-arid regions may be rendered fertile by drawing water from the air.

The opening argument is that the atmosphere even in dese[illegible] contains a great deal of invisible moisture. M. Knapen avers that in arid lands atmospheric water [illegible] amount of from seven to ten [illegible] found in every cubic [illegible] ing the [illegible] meters (32.8 feet) [illegible] He proposes to condense the atmospheric supply into liquid water for irrigating the ground.

A hollow dome of very thick masonry is pierced in its upper part with small conduits which have an inward [illegible] The purpose of these is to admit warm air to the cool interior of the dome, the cool air within escaping through other conduits that pierce the lower part of the dome with an outward slope.

The interior of the dome is encircled with horizontal [illegible] the sharp edges of which [illegible] downward. These are intended to cause the moisture [illegible] the walls of the dome by [illegible] from the heated outer air [illegible] enters the refrigerating interior to collect in drops, which fall [illegible] ridges upon the dish-shaped bottom of the dome, which discharges into a reservoir beneath.

M. Knapen calculates that an apparatus of this kind having a condensing surface of 100 square meters (over 1000 square feet) could collect from the atmosphere from thirty to forty cubic meters (1000 to 1400 cubic feet) of water per day. So, in his imagination, he pictures broad acres of land, now desolate under a cloudless sun, smiling with rich vegetation, out of which rise, like ornamental turrets, the summits of the [illegible] aerian wells pumping the life blood of plants out of the air. [illegible]

[illegible] similar disposition of small conduits in the masonry, which dry by means of air currents that condense the moisture contained in the pores of the masonry [illegible] the outer side of the wall. This system has been used with success [illegible]

Helps Women To Do Their Work

"So should I without Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I have taken it for years whenever I feel nervous, fretty, or all tired out."

"Don't Get So Tired"

MT. CARMEL, PA.—"After my second baby was born I had to work too hard and be on my feet too soon because my husband was ill. After his death I was in such a weakened and run-down condition that nothing seemed to help me. I am starting the fourth bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and feel a great deal better. I am much stronger and don't get so tired out when I wash or work hard. I do housekeeping and dressmaking and I highly recommend the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. Gertrude Butts, 414 S. Market St., Mt. ADVICE TO LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

You seem to be the only one to whom I can turn for advice.

I am in love with a young man of 21, and he told me he loved me, and I was the only girl. But he changed so suddenly.

He says that he gets tired of girls, and he has gone with plenty. If he gives me up, I will die. I love him so. Please tell me what to do, so I can win back his love.

I will thank you for your advice.

HELEN S.

I'M sorry Helen, that this disappointment has come to you. But young men of 21 often are changeable. They do not know their own minds as a rule. At 25, the average man is far more reliable than at 21.

Girls of 17 sometimes change also. The chances are that two or three years from now you will have forgotten all about this fickle young man and will be seriously interested in some one more worthy of a girl's serious love.

So let him go, my dear—you cannot prevent it—and enjoy the companionship of your more dependable friends.

GENUINE PHILLIPS MILK OF MAGNESIA For Troubles due to Acid INDIGESTION ACID STOMACH HEARTBURN HEADACHE GASES NAUSEA

What many people call indigestion very often means excess acid in the stomach. The stomach nerves have been over stimulated, and food sours. The corrective is an alkali, which neutralizes acid instantly. And the best alkali known to medical science is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained the standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

One spoonful of this harmless, tasteless alkali in water will neutralize instantly many times as much acid, and the symptoms disappear at once. You will never use crude methods when once you learn the efficiency of this. Go get a small bottle to try.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drugstore.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

BAER FACTS

by Arthur "Bugs" Baer

MR. HOOVER left for South America this week proving that you can't [illegible] if you are a good will ambassador.

That's a new racket among the totally elite.

The ambassador is to shake hands until the other fellow's cuff links drop out.

The fixtures always go along with the good will.

Mr. Hoover's fixtures are big guns on a battleship and 16 American newspaper men.

The good will diplomat is outnumbered by the old free silver ratio of 16 to one. It looks as if the trip will be all right if Mr. Hoover keeps the newspaper boys away from the guns.

The Vice-President will not be on the trip with Herbert.

Mr. Hoover's last words to him were:

"You might as well stay home and get used to being alone."

The President will occupy the admiral's bungalow on the Maryland.

Al Smith is summering down on the Gulf. Al had nothing to say about Herbert's trip on the Maryland.

His only remark was:

"I wish I had that battleship before election."

Mr. Hoover will not stop long in any country. Recent [illegible] indicate that a good will ambassador is popular provided he keeps on traveling.

Another bit of good willishness for Mr. Hoover. Don't try to put those 16 newspaper men in sailor's uniform.

Newspaper men's [illegible] so [illegible] would not stay put on their heads.

Here's a load of good will for the ambassador. And if he needs any help we will rush more newspaper men down to him.

Stock Market Boils Over; After This Delirium, What?

By B. C. FORBES.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22—Again the Wall Street pot boiled over. The [illegible] with speculation [illegible] selected issues, [illegible] predictions [illegible].

B. C. Forbes

Whether the market will again fulfill expectations of [illegible] under [illegible] a sharp [illegible] before the year ends remains to be seen.

On October 17 [illegible] said: It is taken for granted that Mr. Hoover will be elected. Those looking [illegible] extent or [illegible] express confidence that Hoover's election will send the market much higher."

On November 3 this appeared: [illegible] the immediate response to a Hoover victory [illegible] wild demonstration on the buying side. But don't imagine for a moment the pools which are [illegible] enormous lines are eager to add to their holdings for the purpose of [illegible] them as investments.

"Pools are not organized to invest. They are organized to speculate. [illegible] want quick action [illegible]."

On November 5, on the eve of election, this statement was published: "The present temper of those [illegible] in stocks suggests that the election will be conducive to [illegible] of action.

"If the public rush in to buy, quotations [illegible] shoot up spectacularly. Even if there should be no [illegible] the market's [illegible] may see to it that the election result is adequately 'interpreted.'"

[illegible] for granted [illegible] of the [illegible] pools will [illegible]

What is now going on, therefore, [illegible] no surprise. The Hoover victory has been followed by a [illegible] easier tone in the money market, by moderate imports of gold, by continued cheerful reports from the business world and by an almost unparalleled wave of buying of stocks by the public.

A [illegible] Wall Street's [illegible] has [illegible] since the election. General Motors led the way by an extra cash dividend and by a 150 per cent stock dividend. DuPont and other companies have likewise [illegible] stock distributions while increased dividends have been announced with [illegible] frequency.

Then there was [illegible] expressed [illegible] in Wall Street this week when [illegible]

This writer all along has cautioned against short selling because it was recognized that the [illegible] market has been in the hands of men [illegible] of extraordinary wealth and shrewdness. In the past big campaigns were engineered for the most part by professional stock market operators, men of more or less limited means. The leadership this time has been very different. It has embraced men who have been conspicuously successful in industry and who have turned to stocks rather [illegible] as a medium for investment of their multiple millions.

Freely granting all this, it remains [illegible] true that [illegible] latterly has had all the earmarks of unreasoning gambling. Speculative [illegible] such as that witnessed last Friday and again this week have been familiar, though on a smaller scale, towards the breaking point of past speculative booms. We are assured that the country is now so infinitely wealthy, that the prospects ahead of industry are so intoxicating, that the public's appetite for stocks has become so insatiable that the marking up of stock quotations can and will go on and on.

It may—for a time. But nothing could be surer than that it will some day end. That end probably will be precipitated by something [illegible] perhaps [illegible] to the stock market proper.

[illegible] gambling never [illegible] in their lives. [illegible] has not lost its riskiness [illegible] this market which we [illegible] believe is bear-proof.

And it is not a market attractive to conservative investors.

Wall Street Gossip

SALES of Jewel Tea for four weeks ended Nov. 3, 1928, were $1,[illegible] comparing with $1,143,537 in same period of last year.

MISSOURI-KANSAS-TEXAS will show increase of better than 10 per cent in revenues for October over the $5,147,679 of a year ago.

LEE, HIGGINSON & Co., have laid the cornerstone of their new building on Broad st., New York.

MARKET Street Railway for 12 months ended Oct. 31 reports gross of $9,834,079, against $9,825,287 in Oct. 31 period of previous year.

PRESIDENT Reyburn of Lord & Taylor says all indications point to record breaking holiday season for retail trade.

EARLY trading was not as furious as in most recent sessions, there being few blocks of more than 5000 shares.

BEGINNING today, all sales volume was dropped from the ticker after 10.30 a. m., only the prices being printed.

SALE of a Stock Exchange seat was arranged today at the record breaking price of $[illegible], an advance of $[illegible] over yesterday's top.

NATIONAL Biscuit, which started forward at a brisk pace yesterday, quickly added more than 5 points to its gain by touching a new high at 185⅞.

EXCHANGE OPEN ON SATURDAY

[illegible] of the New York Stock Exchange took no action at their [illegible] meeting yesterday on the question of closing the Exchange on Saturday.

Though many of the brokers favored Saturday closing, the large wire houses maintained that they are fully equipped to handle the present rush of business and vigorously oppose Saturday closing, or shortening of the trading period.

Financial Editor of the Boston Evening American in his signed column on Tuesday said: "Some brokers complain about burning the midnight oil in an effort to keep their accounts straight, but so many of the successful houses have added to their office forces that they are in a position to keep up with the swift procession, and have little sympathy for the laggards."

COPPER SALES ARE IN SUBSTANTIAL QUANTITIES

Substantial quantities of copper have changed hands in the domestic and foreign markets this week on the basis of 16 cents delivered to Connecticut Valley points and at 16½ cents c. i. f. European ports. Although business is less active than it was during the recent feverish buying, the limited tonnage offered, due to the well sold-up position for shipment this side of February, is keeping the market in a very strong position.

Heavy shipments are moving out into consumption against current contracts. Deliveries against standing orders will continue to be of large proportions during the first quarter of next year. Manufacturers are notably busy, and all indications point to the high rate of consumption for many months.

"ADMINISTRATION" IS ON LIST IN BOSTON

The preferred stock, series A, allotment certificates to the number of 60,000 of the Capital Administration Co., Ltd., have been listed on the Boston Stock Exchange. Each allotment certificate represents one share of the company's 6 per cent cumulative preferred stock, series A, par value $50 per share (out of an authorized issue of 230,000 shares) and one share of its class A stock without par value (out of an authorized issue of 250,000 shares).

DENIES SPECULATION IS WILD IN WALL ST.

Refutation of the general belief that speculation is rampant and that stocks are being bought by an excited public who will soon throw them back on the market, is expressed by Wetsel Market Bureau, Inc. The Bureau believes that, rather, the huge and abnormal volume reflects the growth of American industries and the fact that the New York Stock Exchange is more nearly a "world market" than ever before.

KEITH-ALBEE SHARES ARE WELL DEPOSITED

Holders of 981,281 shares of common stock of the Keith-Albee-Orpheum Corporation deposited their shares under the plan for the formation of the Radio-Keith-Orpheum Corporation. Deposited stock represents over 84 per cent of the 1,163,574 Keith common shares outstanding. The plan, declared operative Nov. 19, required the deposit of 51 per cent of the outstanding stock, the right of deposit having terminated on Nov. 15.

NEW ENGLAND RADIO LACKS N. E. FLAVOR

By FRED TOYE
Radio Editor

CHAIN BROADCASTING is at one and the same time the greatest boon to New England radio listeners and the greatest detriment to New England radio. This seems like a contradiction, but it is not. Let me explain.

ABUNDANT LOCAL TALENT

GENERALLY SPEAKING, chain broadcasts are good. Likewise, generally speaking, local broadcasts are—well—not so good. That will be admitted by everyone except a few of the good people who are doing local broadcasting. I do not intend to convey the idea that local talent is [illegible] but it is being badly handled. For the present it is [illegible] that chain broadcasting is good and local broadcast programs are not so good. This means that listeners in New England are establishing standards of appreciation based upon the performance of New York, Washington and Chicago soloists and entertainment groups. It also means that listeners throughout the country are drawing comparisons, quite unflattering to New England, between New York-Chicago-Washington broadcasts and those coming from these rock-bound shores. In other words, the Voice of New England is not the Voice of Whittier, of Holmes, of Longfellow, of Thoreau, of Ole Bull, of Nordica, of Farrar, of the Boston Symphony Orchestra. It is not the Voice of Tarkington or Phillips Brooks, of the Old North Church or of Bunker Hill. It isn't the Voice of the old Boston Museum or of the Museum of Fine Arts, nor the Voice of the Berkshires or the White Mountains or the Maine woods. New England radio is not and has not echoed the Voice of anything New England either living or dead.

BUT UNINSPIRED

LOCAL BROADCAST programs are uninspired. Many of them are good entertainment, but there is scarcely one which is helping to build the reputation of a single station, of a single studio director, of a single announcer or of a single entertainment unit. The several radio station directors are excellent fellows and good administrators. They are not impresari. The announcers, generally have good speaking voices, but they are not necessarily good news reporters, good singers, good comedians, good continuity writers, good music reviewers, good linguists and studio hosts—all of whose duties they must perform in dizzy rotation.

PROGRAMS STANDARDIZED

RADIO STATIONS are built for commercial purposes. Some exist as good-will builders for the owners. Others are merely in the business of selling time. In neither case is it evident that the owners feel any great responsibility to establish the station's "cachet." Station individuality and uniqueness of program offerings are not deemed necessary. Every effort is towards standardization, resulting in programs of almost identical character throughout the land.

A FEW QUESTIONS

IT WOULD SEEM obvious that a wealth of material is to be found in greater Boston. We have scores of great institutions of higher learning, with world renowned scholars in their faculties. We have great musical conservatories whose departments are directed by foremost performers in the music world. We have schools of the drama headed by men and women filled with the lore of stagecraft. We have a wealth of individual musical talent for solo and ensemble work. Why isn't the Boston Symphony Orchestra on the air? Why isn't the Cecilia Society brought before the microphone? What is the Harvard Musical Association doing about radio? Why doesn't somebody bring the work of the Handel and Hayden Society before the world? Why doesn't some station organize a series of college nights, bringing in the glee clubs and musical organizations of Harvard, Wellesley, Boston College, Lasell, and the scores of other great institutions to which thousands of young people flock each year from out of the West? To the rest of the land, Boston and New England have always been a glorified tradition. Radio is making us commonplace.

BETWEEN RECORDS

WHY DON'T we ever hear a worth while talk on the radio? What about a discussion once in a while between sound thinkers on subjects of universal interest? What about our great medical schools? The most vitally interesting topic is health, yet we are never invited to listen to discussions of the care of the body by any of the great men of the Harvard Medical School, of the Forsythe Dental Clinic? We have plenty of beauty hints. Yesterday one of the lovely Lorelei who conducts local shopping news solemnly asked her radio audience between "Angela Mia" and "A Night of Love," "Now have you ever taken time to look at the bottom of your foot carefully?" Who in Heck cares about the bottom of his foot unless he's got a bunion? But that's typical of the local radio standard.

AN ILLUSION SHATTERED

IN THE NEXT three years, nearly a million dollars will be spent advertising to the world the attractions and the importance of New England. How much effect will printer's ink and artist's brush have in building our bright image when the one great means by which the world thinks it can know New England is pouring out inanities day in day out, hour after hour. There is no sound-proof wall around New England and there is no way of plugging the ears of listening America if the people in the other sections wish to hear what we have to give on the radio. Let us look to the day when the local program will not be merely something to be tolerated until the chain broadcast takes the air. Rather, let us establish a mark toward which the chain standardizers may shoot.

NORMA SHEARER HEADS CAST IN NEW FILM

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

Copyright, 1928, by Universal Service

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 22—Norma Shearer starts work on "The Trial of Mary Dugan" on Thursday with Bayard Veiller directing his own play and incidentally his first motion picture. It's Norma's first talkie and is the climax of one of the most interesting discussions ever held on the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer lot.

Bayard Veiller has wanted Miss Shearer for the role of Mary Dugan ever since he sold M. G. M. the play but Irving Thalberg had misgivings. His reason was not that he felt his wife could not play the highly dramatic part better than any other actress but because Mary Dugan has a past and it might not meet the approval of her public.

But finally, he was so completely won over to the idea that he is rushing production so that "The Trial of Mary Dugan" will reach the screen before "The Last of Mrs. Cheney." Frederick Londsdale, author of "Mrs. Cheney" reaches here Saturday and will assist with the talkie version when Miss Shearer does make it. Raymond Hackett, a son of James Hackett, will play the lead opposite Miss Shearer in "The Trial of Mary Dugan," and the rest of the cast is being rapidly assembled.

JUNE MARLOWE'S sudden departure for Germany to make two pictures for Universal naturally leads one to ask, "what about Mary Philbin?" Mary Philbin, at the time her fiance, Paul Kohner, departed for Berlin, was to follow him in a few weeks, marry him and make pictures in Germany. Some time has elapsed and there is nary a word about Miss Philbin leaving Hollywood nor about the marriage.

Of course she has been playing in some of Universal's most important pictures here and it may be she is needed to keep the home films grinding. But whatever has happened the fact remains that June Marlowe is on her way to Germany to make a series of two pictures under the supervision of Paul Kohner. The first of these, "The Fallen Angel," will be directed by Joseph Levigard and will be started as soon as Miss Marlowe reaches Germany.

WE will have to get used to our stars going to New York to make pictures. It takes a little time to accustom ourselves to hearing that this or that one is leaving Hollywood to make a picture in Manhattan. We have had everything our own way so long. The reason so many screen actors are now commuting is because the sound equipment in a number of cases is already installed in the East.

Belle Bennett, who has just signed a new contract to make a series of five pictures for Tiffany-Stahl, will leave in a few weeks to make her first talkie in the East. She seems not to be limited to mother roles these days but is running the gamut in emotion.

THEY say at United Artists studios when the reporters got hold of the story that John Barrymore had applied for a license to marry Dolores Costello he was so upset at the threatened publicity he had difficulty in continuing his picture. John shouldn't be so modest. With two marriages you'd think he would get used to the idea.

He was first married to Katherine Harris, an actress, from whom he was divorced. His second wife was Blanche Oelrich Thomas, whose pen name is Michael Strange. Mrs. Thomas must have gotten her divorce in some remote village for nary a word of it has crept out.

The news of Blanche Oelrich's marriage to John kept the New York reporters working 24 hours a day for it was one of those stories that is worth front-page space.

Mrs. Thomas was a society leader and she gave up great wealth and position, to say nothing of three children, to marry the fascinating Barrymore. Hollywood seems to have had an excellent effect on Barrymore and he is content to settle down. He has been most steadfast in his devotion to Dolores Costello. Can you blame him? She is one of the most beautiful girls on the screen and one of the sweetest.

WHAT wealth of experience Edward Earle has had in the movies. He was drafted from the stage to play leads in the old Vitagraph days, and for some years was Agnes Ayres' leading man. Then he came to Hollywood and he is now proving his versatility by playing roles that range from good moral young men to villains. He is now at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, playing the "heavy" in Buster Keaton's picture, "Spite Marriage."

* * *

WHAT'S in a name? Plenty if a girl's name is Lane. Leone Lane, a girl Famous Players-Lasky signed a few weeks ago, has the second lead in "Sunset Pass." Nora Lane, no relation, plays the lead. I will say the Lanes have it. This is a Jack Holt wild Western, with Chester Conklin offering comedy relief as bartender.

If the director says, "Will you please step forward, Miss Lane," we will probably see both Nora and Leone making a dash for the front line trenches. They will have to fight it out, however, among themselves.

SNAPSHOTS of Hollywood collected at random: Joseph Schenck lunching with Dolores Del Rio and Edwin Carewe at the Montmartre. Lupe Velez riding with Gary Cooper in an open car. Marion Davies arriving at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio and going into a conference with Irving Thalberg. Mrs. Conrad Nagel escorting her mother and grandmother to luncheon.

Tom Mix back from Mexico with a new sunburn. Bebe Daniels moving the last of her belongings into her new beach home. Marie Dressler conversing with Rod La Rocque at the performance of the Repertory Theater. Cecil De Mille at the same performance, also other well known film folk. That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Grenadier Fish Caught by Trawler Off Cape Cod

A grenadier fish, with a nose and mouth like a shark and with its body tapering in a big V shape, is being exhibited at the Fish Pier. The fish was scooped up off Highland Light by the trawler Nina B.

Old timers at the Fish Pier recognized the species, which is seldom found anywhere except off the Grand Banks.

The fish is about a foot in length and is attracting much attention among fishermen at the Pier.

Whose Baby?

Try 1000 Guesses

This infant, not a year old, is the youngest son of Mussolini, dictator of Italy, whose picture is also published.

What a difference between the two faces, the baby beginning life, the powerful man, who by sheer strength of will has made himself ruler of a great nation, one of the most powerful men in Europe and in all Europe's history.

THIS LITTLE BABY IS NOT QUITE ONE YEAR OLD. CAN YOU TELL HIS FORTUNE?

What will be the future of this little child, with wide forehead and big eyes? Will he perhaps be king of Italy in some future day, or will he succeed his father as dictator, as the son of Cromwell succeeded his father?

A strange appearance in the world's history is Mussolini, father of this tiny, gentle baby. Born poor, brought up in his father's workshop, dissatisfied, put in jail for Socialistic and Anarchistic utterances, fighting as a common soldier in the Italian war, HE SAW HIS OPPORTUNITY.

He made himself master of Italy, and saved Italy in all probability from actual anarchy. And now with the king still on his throne, he himself higher than the king, Mussolini controls the ancient nation that once was Rome, and he dominates largely Europe.

Mussolini tells his brother Italians they must give up all Socialistic, radical ideas. He says the word "Liberty" has been used too much. What men need is not so much LIBERTY as HARD WORK AND CONCENTRATION.

He tells Italians that their nation, not rich in natural resources like Russia or America, more than half of the soil mountainous, leaves no room for fighting parties and party hatreds.

All must be Italians, work as Italians, and in two words, OBEY MUSSOLINI.

Everybody does that now.

How will things be fifty years from now, when this little baby is as old as his father? And what will this baby's future be?

THE STRONG FACE OF THE LITTLE BABY'S FATHER

You are a good fortune teller if you can answer that question.

New York Day by Day

by O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Nov. 22—New York somehow provides a perfect back ground for a sucker. The immensity of the city gives repressions a chance to strut. Men known for their perfect family fireside manners in their home towns often come here, and before they know it have slipped a cog.

Sometimes they have scarcely registered at their hotel before they begin wondering how in the world they can keep their names out of the tabloids. One crisp and sunny morning this fall three anxious gentlemen scurried to private detective agencies, covered with mortification and cold sweat.

Each had lost wallets containing valuable papers after driving through the park with a lady. They had been in town less than 24 hours and in unguarded moments fell for one of the ancient tricks—a coyly dropped hankerchief and a demure smile.

Most of these victims are far removed from the Broadway classification of "sap." They are the tired cavaliers of commerce who have merely been touched by the city's spirit of gaiety and indulged a foolish lark. And find themselves suddenly jockeyed into a dangerous and expensive cul de sac.

There are police records of more than 20,000 women who manage to live quite comfortably by lying in wait for the stranger and adroitly turning a pick-up acquaintance into a profitable adventure. They are the fine feathered sort with a veneer of refinement that is disarming.

Their vanity cases conceal no "knockout drops" or other such crudities. They have well appointed apartments in select neighborhoods and even intimates often do not know of their subtle methods of capitalizing their charms. They are the female gleaners along the way that is white.

In the intimacy of the cab they will "lift a leather," for they know the visiting fireman will rarely squawk. The next most popular gesture is to inspire a lovey-dovey note. Cleverly handled, this becomes a police form of blackmail that may pay the rent for quite a spell.

EXPERTS in blackmail say in almost every instance a blackmailing bluff can be called. Once the affair is turned over to the police, blackmailing ladies lose all interest. They take no chances on those who fight back. They know there are enough boobs to go round who will not.

THE low numbered automobile license plate is big league stuff—the grand gesture—in this town. It is associated with a political pull or an intimate friendship with the police commissioner and wins the breaks for an after theater get-a-way, right of way in traffic jams and especial parking privileges. Doubtless a few city officials are entitled to them, but many others do not rate the distinction. They are frequently displayed by actors, theatrical producers, so-called merchant princes and others who bear the evanescent tag of celebrity. It is a form of cheap favoritism displayed toward those who have no more right to them than the ordinary tax paying worm who meekly awaits his turn. Gr-rr-r-r!

THE low numbered auto license is just another example of Manhattan's inordinate vanity—its unceasing desire to be what it is not. I wish I had one.

CHERRY HILL, one of the city's reputed toughest spots, was once a scene of idyllic peace—a Pomander walk where came strolling lovers hand in hand, where fat burghers at in elbow chairs for comfortable naps, etc. Even its name came from the fragrance of its cherry orchards. Today a decrepit civilization lives on the ruins of a departed aristocracy of something swell sounding like that.

FOUR of New York's most recent debutantes are accomplished saxophone players. It used to be the only person who played a saxophone was the black face comedian. He came on with one around his neck, hung his overcoat on an imaginary nail, took off six vests and then started to render "Asleep in the Deep." He never entirely finished it, for in the midst of his deepest note the straight man came along to bestow a resounding kick in the crupper. And they snapped into a dance.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

THOSE old bathtubs in New Orleans make you stop and think and wonder what kind of a cream puff you are, anyway.

The bathtubs are in the museum now, but it isn't so long since they were in the homes being used by some of the leading hustlers of this nation. They are made of copper and there are several designs, but they all look like enlarged coal skuttles. You sat on the edge and wedged your bunions into the bottom while a negro mammy poured the water over you with a teaspoon or maybe an eyedropper. If you got a quart of bath you were certainly in luck in those hardy days. Evidently bathing wasn't one of the lighter indoor sports in grandpa's time.

In fact, as you look over his equipment, you're moved to wonder if the old gent ever had anything that was light and easy. The bed he slept in with its rope springs—the low, narrow bedroom, hot in summer, squeaking cold in winter—the meager tallow light—the course, hand-woven cloth that rasped his flesh—the monotonous food that had to sustain him between infrequent arduous trips to the city—the rare mail—the loneliness and isolation.

And this wasn't merely the lot of the impoverished ne'er-do-well. The finest in the land lived like that. The early presidents of our country existed in a style which any enterprising, modern stevedore would spurn with scorn, and yet—how they and the country throve on it.

The marches they made, the battles they fought, the splendid dreams they dreamed on their rigid regime and rough discipline.

Operations without anaesthetic—babies without twilight sleep.

And we yell our heads off if the janitor turns on the heat five minutes late. And as for having a tooth pulled without novocaine!!

It makes you humble to ramble around the country as I've been rambling for the last two months, looking up the traces of those men and women who built this big nation and left it to us when they passed on.

WE TALK SO MUCH ABOUT WHAT THEY DID.

WE'D BETTER DO A LITTLE THINKING ABOUT WHAT THEY DID WITHOUT.

We're great little doers ourselves—when we get all smoked up about something. But I wonder how much courage we have when it comes to enduring ordinary hardships and privations? How long would we stand those bathtubs and beds.

Our bathrooms are wonderful contrivances now, all dolled up like the sultan's delight. Colored tile and taffeta curtains and trick showers and rugs—BUT FOR ALL THAT QUEEN OF SHEBA SETTING ARE THE SHIN BONES OF 1928 HANGING UP ANY BETTER RECORDS THAN THE SHIN BONES OF 1829?

WORDS OF THE WISE MEN

When our vices leave us, we flatter ourselves with the idea that we are leaving them.—La Rochefoucauld.

Force and not opinion is the queen of the world; but it is opinion that uses the force. —Pascal.

Coddling Moths

by Herbert Kaufman

No man was ever held great by unanimous consent. A squirt-minded minority delights to detect the clay feet of popular idols.

The golden apples of fame are always infested with slander's coddling moths.

They prefer to recall Washington's badly fitting teeth and whiskey cellar, rather than his military prowess and statesmanship.

They see the cloud on Lincoln's ancestry, not the halo on his brow.

They remind us that Bell's title to the telephone was assailed by patent suits, gloatingly insist that Fulton was not the first builder of the steamboat, and even declare a Frenchman's kite and key antedated Franklin's.

Keyhole snoopers keep prying through the private chapters of biography for beauty's bunion and glory's cork leg.

Literary Jack Horners poke scandal-seeking thumbs into Yesterday's crust, probing for the spoiled plums that history disdained to gather.

They want us to forget Caesar's conquests and remember his pimples and epileptic fits.

Their pens throw a spotlight on Disraeli's snubs and belittle his empire-knitting needle.

They insinuate that Gladstone nibbled an occasional wild oat and periodically demonstrate that Shakespeare had a "ghost writer."

Half-cocked hearsay is thus constantly blowing its withering breath upon achievement and reputation.

Tradition quite probably exaggerates the stature of the average ancient celebrity. The early tyrants, beyond doubt, censored contemporaneous estimate in the torture chamber and on the execution block.

More than one Pharaoh substituted his own name on tablets exalting a predecessor's performance.

But for at least a thousand years the records of accomplishment have been reasonably correct and, since Gutenberg's day, tinged with very little flattery or plagiarism.

Belated discoveries of blots on celebrated escutcheons must be taken with a grain of salt. And even if there are a few sprigs of poison ivy in most laurel wreaths, what of it?

Nobody's expected to score a hundred per cent, and a prig never left an enduring work behind him.

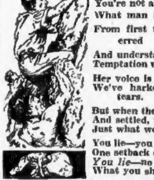
"V" VERSES by Herbert Kaufman — Vim Vigor Victory



You're not alone; we've all been fools.
What man has ever kept the rules
From first to last? We know you erred
And understand how it occurred;
Temptation whispered and you heard.
Her voice is not strange to our ears;
We've harkened, too, and paid in tears.
But when the little fling was through
And settled, we began anew—
Just what we look to see you do.
You lie—you can regain your place,
One setback carries no disgrace.
You lie—no will but yours can say
What you shall be and do today.
To climb and slip, to reach and fall,
Then seek anew and conquer all
The handicaps, is commonplace
To winners of the human race.
Until you try and try and try
In vain to win again, you lie!
You failed if your job was not all done,
You quailed if your fight was just half-won,
You quit if an inning was left unplayed,
No matter how much you scored or made.
If you did your best, what man did more?
Perhaps it wasn't the biggest chore,
But if, nevertheless, the load you bore
Was as much as your strength and will could stand,
You're the equal of any in this broad land.

NORMA SHEARER HEADS CAST IN NEW FILM

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

Copyright, 1928, by Universal Service

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 22—Norma Shearer starts work on "The Trial of Mary Dugan" on Thursday with Bayard Veiller directing his own play and incidentally his first motion picture. It's Norma's first talkie and is the climax of one of the most interesting discussions ever held on the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer lot.

Bayard Veiller has wanted Miss Shearer for the role of Mary Dugan ever since he sold M. G. M. the play but Irving Thalberg had misgivings. His reason was not that he felt his wife could not play the highly dramatic part better than any other actress but because Mary Dugan has a past and it might not meet the approval of her public.

But finally, he was so completely won over to the idea that he is rushing production so that "The Trial of Mary Dugan" will reach the screen before "The Last of Mrs. Cheney." Frederick Lonsdale, author of "Mrs. Cheney" reaches here Saturday and will assist with the talkie version when Miss Shearer does make it. Raymond Hackett, a son of James Hackett, will play the lead opposite Miss Shearer in "The Trial of Mary Dugan," and the rest of the cast is being rapidly assembled.

JUNE MARLOWE'S sudden departure for Germany to make two pictures for Universal naturally leads one to ask, "what about Mary Philbin?" Mary Philbin, at the time her fiance, Paul Kohner, departed for Berlin, was to follow him in a few weeks, marry him and make pictures in Germany. Some time has elapsed and there is nary a word about Miss Philbin leaving Hollywood nor about the marriage.

Of course she has been playing in some of Universal's most important pictures here and it may be she is needed to keep the home films grinding. But whatever has happened the fact remains that June Marlowe is on her way to Germany to make a series of two pictures under the supervision of Paul Kohner. The first of these, "The Fallen Angel," will be directed by Joseph Levigard and will be started as soon as Miss Marlowe reaches Germany.

WE will have to get used to our stars going to New York to make pictures. It takes a little time to accustom ourselves to hearing that this or that one is leaving Hollywood to make a picture in Manhattan. We have had everything our own way so long. The reason so many screen actors are now commuting is because the sound equipment in a number of cases is already installed in the East.

Belle Bennett, who has just signed a new contract to make a series of five pictures for Tiffany-Stahl, will leave in a few weeks to make her first talkie in the East. She seems not to be limited to mother roles these days but is running the gamut in emotion.

THEY say at United Artists studios when the reporters got hold of the story that John Barrymore had applied for a license to marry Dolores Costello he was so upset at the threatened publicity he had difficulty in continuing his picture. John shouldn't be so modest. With two marriages you'd think he would get used to the idea.

He was first married to Katherine Harris, an actress, from whom he was divorced. His second wife was Blanche Oelrich Thomas, whose pen name is Michael Strange. Mrs. Thomas must have gotten her divorce in some remote village for nary a word of it has crept out.

The news of Blanche Oelrich's marriage to John kept the New York reporters working 24 hours a day for it was one of those stories that is worth front-page space.

Mrs. Thomas was a society leader and she gave up great wealth and position, to say nothing of three children, to marry the fascinating Barrymore. Hollywood seems to have had an excellent effect on Barrymore and he is content to settle down. He has been most steadfast in his devotion to Dolores Costello. Can you blame him? She is one of the most beautiful girls on the screen and one of the sweetest.

WHAT wealth of experience Edward Earle has had in the movies. He was drafted from the stage to play leads in the old Vitagraph days, and for some years was Agnes Ayres' leading man. Then he came to Hollywood and he is now proving his versatility by playing roles that range from good moral young men to villains. He is now at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, playing the "heavy" in Buster Keaton's picture, "Spite Marriage."

* * *

WHAT'S in a name? Plenty if a girl's name is Lane. Leone Lane, a girl Famous Players-Lasky signed a few weeks ago, has the second lead in "Sunset Pass." Nora Lane, no relation, plays the lead. I will say the Lanes have it. This is a Jack Holt wild Western, with Chester Conklin offering comedy relief as bartender.

If the director says, "Will you please step forward, Miss Lane," we will probably see both Nora and Leone making a dash for the front line trenches. They will have to fight it out, however, among themselves.

SNAPSHOTS of Hollywood collected at random: Joseph Schenck lunching with Dolores Del Rio and Edwin Carewe at the Montmartre. Lupe Velez riding with Gary Cooper in an open car. Marion Davies arriving at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio and going into a conference with Irving Thalberg. Mrs. Conrad Nagel escorting her mother and grandmother to luncheon. Tom Mix back from Mexico with a new sunburn. Bebe Daniels moving the last of her belongings into her new beach home. Marie Dressler conversing with Rod La Rocque at the performance of the Repertory Theater. Cecil De Mille at the same performance, also other well known film folk. That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Grenadier Fish Caught by Trawler Off Cape Cod

A grenadier fish, with a nose and mouth like a shark and with its body tapering in a big V shape, is being exhibited at the Fish Pier. The fish was scooped up off Highland Light by the trawler Nina B.

Old timers at the Fish Pier recognized the species, which is seldom found anywhere except off the Grand Banks.

The fish is about a foot in length and is attracting much attention among fishermen at the Pier.

Whose Baby?

Try 1000 Guesses

This infant, not a year old, is the youngest son of Mussolini, dictator of Italy, whose picture is also published.

What a difference between the two faces, the baby beginning life, the powerful man, who by sheer strength of will has made himself ruler of a great nation, one of the most powerful men in Europe and in all Europe's history.

THIS LITTLE BABY IS NOT QUITE ONE YEAR OLD. CAN YOU TELL HIS FORTUNE?

What will be the future of this little child, with wide forehead and big eyes? Will he perhaps be king of Italy in some future day, or will he succeed his father as dictator, as the son of Cromwell succeeded his father?

A strange appearance in the world's history is Mussolini, father of this tiny, gentle baby. Born poor, brought up in his father's workshop, dissatisfied, put in jail for Socialistic and Anarchistic utterances, fighting as a common soldier in the Italian war, HE SAW HIS OPPORTUNITY.

He made himself master of Italy, and saved Italy in all probability from actual anarchy. And now with the king still on his throne, he himself higher than the king, Mussolini controls the ancient nation that once was Rome, and he dominates largely Europe.

Mussolini tells his brother Italians they must give up all Socialistic, radical ideas. He says the word "Liberty" has been used too much. What men need is not so much LIBERTY as HARD WORK AND CONCENTRATION.

He tells Italians that their nation, not rich in natural resources like Russia or America, more than half of the soil mountainous, leaves no room for fighting parties and party hatreds.

All must be Italians, work as Italians, and in two words, OBEY MUSSOLINI.

Everybody does that now.

How will things be fifty years from now, when this little baby is as old as his father? And what will this baby's future be?

THE STRONG FACE OF THE LITTLE BABY'S FATHER

You are a good fortune teller if you can answer that question.

Books

If the world's wise men were polled on the question, "What is the most useful habit parents can develop in their children?" the answer would be: The reading of books.

Anyone able to read with understanding and discrimination can unlock all doors leading even to the highest education.

The purpose of schools and colleges and universities is mainly to stimulate and inspire the student to read.

New York Day by Day

by

O.O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Nov. 22—New York somehow provides a perfect back ground for a sucker. The immensity of the city gives repressions a chance to strut. Men known for their perfect family fireside manners in their home towns often come here, and before they know it have slipped a cog.

Sometimes they have scarcely registered at their hotel before they begin wondering how in the world they can keep their names out of the tabloids. One crisp and sunny morning this fall three anxious gentlemen scurried to private detective agencies, covered with mortification and cold sweat.

Each had lost wallets containing valuable papers after driving through the park with a lady. They had been in town less than 24 hours and in unguarded moments fell for one of the ancient tricks—a coyly dropped hankerchief and a demure smile.

Most of these victims are far removed from the Broadway classification of "sap." They are the tired cavaliers of commerce who have merely been touched by the city's spirit of gaiety and indulged a foolish lark. And find themselves suddenly jockeyed into a dangerous and expensive cul de sac.

There are police records of more than 20,000 women who manage to live quite comfortably by lying in wait for the stranger and adroitly turning a pick-up acquaintance into a profitable adventure. They are the fine feathered sort with a veneer of refinement that is disarming.

Their vanity cases conceal no "knockout drops" or other such crudities. They have well appointed apartments in select neighborhoods and even intimates often do not know of their subtle methods of capitalizing their charms. They are the female gleaners along the way that is white.

In the intimacy of the cab they will "lift a leather," for they know the visiting fireman will rarely squawk. The next most popular gesture is to inspire a lovey-dovey note. Cleverly handled, this becomes a police form of blackmail that may pay the rent for quite a spell.

EXPERTS in blackmail say in almost every instance a blackmailing bluff can be called. Once the affair is turned over to the police, blackmailing ladies lose all interest. They take no chances on those who fight back. They know there are enough boobs to go round who will not.

THE low numbered automobile license plate is big league stuff—the grand gesture—in this town. It is associated with a political pull or an intimate friendship with the police commissioner and wins the breaks for an after theater get-away, right of way in traffic jams and especial parking privileges. Doubtless a few city officials are entitled to them, but many others do not rate the distinction. They are frequently displayed by actors, theatrical producers, so-called merchant princes and others who bear the evanescent tag of celebrity. It is a form of cheap favoritism displayed toward those who have no more right to them than the ordinary tax paying worm who meekly awaits his turn. Gr-rr-r-r!

THE low numbered auto license is just another example of Manhattan's inordinate vanity—its unceasing desire to be what it is not. I wish I had one.

CHERRY HILL, one of the city's reputed toughest spots, was once a scene of idyllic peace—a Pomander walk where came strolling lovers hand in hand, where fat burghers at in elbow chairs for comfortable naps, etc. Even its name came from the fragrance of its cherry orchards. Today a decrepit civilization lives on the ruins of a departed aristocracy of something swell sounding like that.

FOUR of New York's most recent debutantes are accomplished saxophone players. It used to be the only person who played a saxophone was the black face comedian. He came on with one around his neck, hung his overcoat on an imaginary nail, took off six vests and then started to render "Asleep in the Deep." He never entirely finished it, for in the midst of his deepest note the straight man came along to bestow a resounding kick in the crupper. And they snapped into a dance.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

THOSE old bathtubs in New Orleans make you stop and think and wonder what kind of a cream puff you are, anyway.

The bathtubs are in the museum now, but it isn't so long since they were in the homes being used by some of the leading hustlers of this nation. They are made of copper and there are several designs, but they all look like enlarged coal skuttles. You sat on the edge and wedged your bunions into the bottom while a negro mammy poured the water over you with a teaspoon or maybe an eyedropper. If you got a quart of bath you were certainly in luck in those hardy days. Evidently bathing wasn't one of the lighter indoor sports in grandpa's time.

In fact, as you look over his equipment, you're moved to wonder if the old gent ever had anything that was light and easy. The bed he slept in with its rope springs—the low, narrow bedroom, hot in summer, squeaking cold in winter—the meager tallow light—the course, hand-woven cloth that rasped his flesh—the monotonous food that had to sustain him between infrequent arduous trips to the city—the rare mail—the loneliness and isolation.

And this wasn't merely the lot of the impoverished ne'er-do-well. The finest in the land lived like that. The early presidents of our country existed in a style which any enterprising, modern stevedore would spurn with scorn, and yet—how they and the country throve on it.

The marches they made, the battles they fought, the splendid dreams they dreamed on their rigid regime and rough discipline.

Operations without anaesthetic—babies without twilight sleep.

And we yell our heads off if the janitor turns on the heat five minutes late. And as for having a tooth pulled without novocaine!!

It makes you humble to ramble around the country as I've been rambling for the last two months, looking up the traces of those men and women who built this big nation and left it to us when they passed on.

WE TALK SO MUCH ABOUT WHAT THEY DID.

WE'D BETTER DO A LITTLE THINKING ABOUT WHAT THEY DID WITHOUT.

We're great little doers ourselves—when we get all smoked up about something. But I wonder how much courage we have when it comes to enduring ordinary hardships and privations? How long would we stand those bathtubs and beds.

Our bathrooms are wonderful contrivances now, all dolled up like the sultan's delight. Colored tile and taffeta curtains and trick showers and rugs—BUT FOR ALL THAT QUEEN OF SHEBA SETTING ARE THE SHIN BONES OF 1928 HANGING UP ANY BETTER RECORDS THAN THE SHIN BONES OF 1829?

WORDS OF THE WISE MEN

When our vices leave us, we flatter ourselves with the idea that we are leaving them.—La Rochefoucauld.

A well-prepared mind hopes in adversity and fears in prosperity.—Horace.

Force and not opinion is the queen of the world; but it is opinion that uses the force. —Pascal.

Coddling Moths

by Herbert Kaufman

No man was ever held great by unanimous consent. A squirt-minded minority delights to detect the clay feet of popular idols.

The golden apples of fame are always infested with slander's coddling moths.

They prefer to recall Washington's badly fitting teeth and whiskey cellar, rather than his military prowess and statesmanship.

They see the cloud on Lincoln's ancestry, not the halo on his brow.

They remind us that Bell's title to the telephone was assailed by patent suits, gloatingly insist that Fulton was not the first builder of the steamboat, and even declare a Frenchman's kite and key antedated Franklin's.

Keyhole snoopers keep prying through the private chapters of biography for beauty's bunion and glory's cork leg.

Literary Jack Horners poke scandal-seeking thumbs into Yesterday's crust, probing for the spoiled plums that history disdained to gather.

They want us to forget Caesar's conquests and remember his pimples and epileptic fits.

Their pens throw a spotlight on Disraeli's snubs and belittle his empire-knitting needle.

They insinuate that Gladstone nibbled an occasional wild oat and periodically demonstrate that Shakespeare had a "ghost writer."

Half-cocked hearsay is thus constantly blowing its withering breath upon achievement and reputation.

Tradition quite probably exaggerates the stature of the average ancient celebrity. The early tyrants, beyond doubt, censored contemporaneous estimate in the torture chamber and on the execution block.

More than one Pharaoh substituted his own name on tablets exalting a predecessor's performance.

But for at least a thousand years the records of accomplishment have been reasonably correct and, since Gutenberg's day, tinged with very little flattery or plagiarism.

Belated discoveries of blots on celebrated escutcheons must be taken with a grain of salt. And even if there are a few sprigs of poison ivy in most laurel wreaths, what of it?

Nobody's expected to score a hundred per cent, and a prig never left an enduring work behind him.

"V" VERSES by Herbert Kaufman
Vim Vigor Victory

You're not alone; we've all been fools.
What man has ever kept the rules
From first to last? We know you erred
And understand how it occurred;
Temptation whispered and you heard.

Her voice is not strange to our ears;
We've harkened, too, and paid in tears.

But when the little fling was through
And settled, we began anew—
Just what we look to see you do.

You lie—you can regain your place.
One setback carries no disgrace.
You lie*—no will but yours can say
What you shall be and do today.

To climb and slip, to reach and fall,
Then seek anew and conquer all
The handicaps, is commonplace
To winners of the human race.
Until you try and try and try
In vain to win again, you lie!
You failed if your job was not all done,
You quailed if your fight was just half-won,
You quit if an inning was left unplayed,
No matter how much you scored or made.
If you did your best, what man did more?
Perhaps it wasn't the biggest chore,
But if, nevertheless, the load you bore
Was as much as your strength and will could stand,
You're the equal of any in this broad land.
